Upside-Down Flag Issue

Skyline Student Officers' 'Pin Cushion'

Attempts in the Student Council at Skyline College to have removed a United States flag which has hung upside down in the student body office for two months, was defeated for lack of a two-thirds majority on Tuesday.

The Stars and Stripes had been used as a pincushion at one time, but a story and picture in the student newspaper, Skyline Press, this week caused a furore.

Student Body President Dan Tobias said he vetoed a decision last week by the Student Council to remove the flag. That decision carried by a 9 to 5 vote.

Today the Student Council, with a bigger turnout of members, tried again to have the flag removed. But the 12 to 9 vote in favor of having it taken down lacked the necessary two-thirds majority.

Meanwhile, James Watt, dean of students, said he is drafting a letter ordering Tobias to remove the flag from the office.

The letter is based on a San Mateo Junior College District ruling which prohibits the unlawful display of the flag.

Tobias said that a picture of the flag being used as a pincushion with memoranda and notes tacked to it, which appeared this week in the newspaper, was taken in September.

"The dean of students convinced us it was disturbing people," he said, "and we took the pins out. He said he thought the (college) newspaper wanted to point out that there were people on the right at the college who believe in the sacred symbolism of the flag."

Mike Johnson, 24, South San Francisco sophomore in English and ex-controller of activities, declared, "Our intention is not to debase the flag and not to disgrace the nation. It is traditionally taken as a sign of distress. I don't see how anyone can sit back and say this nation is not in distress."

Angelo Abarca, 40, an ex-sergeant who served 22 years in the Navy and Air Force, including volunteer service in Vietnam, today delivered an impassioned speech to the school's Inter-Club Council, of which he is president.

"Take this back to your people in your clubs," he said. "Let them know what is going on."

"The rights of society as a whole are more important than the rights of a few individuals on this campus when it affects the people as a whole," he declared.

"This action of putting the flag upside down is not representative of Skyline College," he stated. "It is not good for us and it does not represent the majority of opinion on this campus."

He said the Inter-Club Council had agreed to so inform its membership. He added the (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Recall Petitions

Notices of Intent Served

Three San Bruno councilmen facing recall have been served with notices of intention to circulate recall petitions.

Lance Miller, one of the originators of the recall movement, filed the documents with the city clerk this past Friday.

According to law, the individuals—Mayor Neil Christal and Councilmen Ted Long and Dick Griffith—have seven days in which to respond to the recall effort. Griffith already has said he is planning a 500-word statement "that may surprise a few people."

Recall is being sought because of the manner in which City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin was hired, without following pre-arranged hiring procedures.

Each notice of intention to recall certifies that a similar notice has been served to each of the other councilmen to be included in the recall effort.

The petitions for each individual will need a minimum of 4,000 names. A requirement of the election code stipulates 25 percent of the registered voters must sign.

The recall committee, headed by Orville Wycoff, plans to launch its petition circulation campaign the third week in November.

A recall election is projected for mid-February.

"Citizen response to our call for community support," noted Wycoff, "has exceeded our expectations. We've been able to map out a petition circulation plan in every San Bruno neighborhood with an outstanding show of volunteer workers."

Time table for the recall movement, which grew out of public indignation over the manner in which the three city councilmen unexpectedly voted to hire a new city manager without following pre-arranged hiring procedures, calls for the filing of the committee's intent to circulate a recall petition with San Bruno City Clerk Carl Hunsburg on Thursday, October 29th. The "intent" will also be published in local newspapers and served upon the three councilmen on that date, in accordance with State laws, which stipulates that the circulation of a recall petition can only be carried out six months after the public officials have been elected.

The recall committee will launch their petition circulation campaign around the third week of November. "We've purposely held off until after the November general election in order to avoid the confusion of too many issues," Wycoff explained. "The importance of the recall itself is so great that we want to give every San Bruno resident an opportunity to study the facts without confusing them with the political issues being aired in the November election."

The recall committee is confident they will be able to obtain the necessary 4,000 signatures of registered San Bruno voters needed to place the recall matter on a special election ballot. "We've received daily telephone calls from residents who want to sign the petition now," notes committee coordinator Mrs. John Ford, "and with the number of volunteers to carry petitions in their individual neighborhoods we should have more than the required number of signatures in a fairly short period of time."

The signed recall petitions will be returned to the City Clerk when completed for his verification. From there they will be presented to the San Bruno City Council whose duty it is to set the date for a special election to recall three of its own members. Estimates are that the earliest a recall election can be held in San Bruno would be in mid-February of next year.

Four Seek

Jeff High

Board Seat

Four candidates for one Jefferson High School District Board of Trustees seat will be on the November 3 ballot.

They are Dr. John Connolly, Maurice Tolson, John Sloane and Norman Baker.

Sloane is from Pacifica, the others from Daly City.

Probably the most prominent of the four is Dr. Connolly, a podiatrist, who is chief of staff of the California Podiatry Hospital, a staff member of Mount Zion Hospital and the University of California Medical Center. He has an office in Westlake.

He has issued a statement of general support for quality education and educators, strict adherence to the school budget, curtailment of property vandalism.

3-2 S.S.F. Vote

Planners Reject

Westboro Report

South San Francisco planning commissioners have washed their hands of the "Report of the Westborough Planning Commission," referring it back to the councilmen who authorized the committee.

In a 3-2 vote Monday evening, commissioners killed a motion that would have approved the report in principle. The majority vote was cast by Commissioners Marcel Campredon, Joseph T. Zlatunich and Nello Lazzari.

The committee was created earlier this year when residents became upset at the way the Westborough section of the city was being planned. Their main contention was that it contained too much commercially zoned property.

Originally intended as a Westborough group, the committee on the insistence of the councilmen attained city-wide representation. Its purpose was to study the Westborough area and report its findings.

Early meetings included explanations of the geographical and population breakdowns, zoning and density of the area.

Commissioners voting down approval of the report apparently felt the committee was doing

AFT Opposes Proposed Cuts

In S.S.F. Schools Budget

Possible budget cuts proposed for the next school year by the South San Francisco Unified School District administration have come under fire by that district's American Federation of Teachers (AFT).

James Lynch, president of the AFT, read a statement to the trustees calling for establishment of an average class size of 25 as a "first priority."

Lynch also criticized Superintendent Paul Nielsen for cutting teachers instead of supportive personnel. He offered a list of a dozen such personnel that could be eliminated or sent back to the classroom to teach. According to Lynch, this would mean a possibility of putting $1 million back into the teaching program.

"Certificated Personnel Outside the Classroom (CPOC) are luxury personnel and, according to teacher surveys, actually burdensome in many cases to teachers," said Lynch. These personnel handle non-teaching work such as consultants, administration and counselors.

"The district, to date, has protected CPOCs—not cutting on such positions—but has alarmingly eliminated 70 teaching positions. The superintendent has advised you (the board) to cut the staff which does the teaching."

"We are alarmed by the number of cuts already made, and we are baffled by the failure of the superintendent to suggest the cutting of the so-called CPOC supportive personnel. We feel that it is very dangerous for the superintendent to persist in this one-sided budget cutting," Lynch said.

After Lynch's presentation, Nielsen gave a report on possible budget cuts. He made only two remarks on Lynch's report: That the district reports actual class sizes, not class averages; and that the district is within the law regarding CPOCs. Some 33 specific items were discussed at the meeting by Nielsen.

Nielsen also pointed out that the suggested cuts he has made come from suggestions of employees and the community as well as from the administration.

"The administration doesn't want to make any cuts," said Nielsen, adding that since there is no money there is no alternative.

MUD ZONE — Christopher Columbus school officials and parents are hoping that when the rains return to Daly City their children will have a cleaner, safer walk to school. To get to class, the pupils must cross the Cabrillo Freeway construction area at St. Francis Boulevard and Clarinada Avenue and rains last week created a mud problem. Construction officials at a meeting last Friday agreed their flagmen would see that, as above, the children would safely skirt the accumulating mud. (Times Photo)

SSF Board

Strengthens

Its Position

A couple of minor wording changes believed to have major meanings were made by South San Francisco Unified School District trustees in their board procedures.

On the request of Trustee Lorraine Cooper, the board strengthened its position that persons wishing to address the board first present a written explanation of their subject.

Mrs. Cooper said the board has not been following this policy in the past and it needs to be re-emphasized, added to this section of the board procedure was the policy that if an item is not submitted in extensive written form it will be discussed by the board strictly as an information item.

A suggestion by Wesley Slade, president of a group calling itself Citizens for Quality Education, to hold one study meeting a month and one action meeting was briefly discussed and brushed aside.

Slade contended the study session would give everyone an opportunity to discuss at length, before any action would be taken, items that tend to get (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Master Teacher

Experiment Out

South San Francisco Unified School District trustees have rescinded an earlier action to institute the Master Teacher Law experiment in the district.

One board member, Lorraine Cooper, however, blasted the teachers for voting against the program without first giving it a chance.

"Those involved didn't act in good faith," said Mrs. Cooper. "This (vote against the program) has done nothing but hurt our school district."

James Lynch, president of the district's American Federation of Teachers, said the main reason the teachers voted against the program was because they were not taken into the confidence of the superintendent concerning the program. "If there is a question of ethics, it should not be directed at the teachers of South San Francisco," said Lynch.

On October 15, the teachers of the district had a secret ballot election to determine whether the district would participate in the master teacher experiment described in Assembly Bill 741, authored by Assemblyman Leo Ryan.

There were 399 voting not to participate against as compared to 164 voting in favor of the program.

S.S.F. Budget

Discussion

Budget priorities and suggested cutbacks within the South San Francisco Unified School District will be the topic of discussion at the 8 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Citizens for Quality Education.

The South San Francisco group will meet in the school district board room.

Extension to Other Counties

By Annexation BARTD Goal

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) Thursday approved a policy statement that declared the goal of BART will be to extend to other counties by annexation; there was little question but that the BART directors were talking about San Mateo County.

Meanwhile, the directors approved first priorities for construction of rail extensions inside the three-county BART district to serve the northwest section of San Francisco, Pittsburg-Antioch and Livermore-Pleasanton.

The board statement, adopted at the urging of Congressman Jerome R. Waldie (Dem.-Contra Costa County) declared:

"BART's goal is for extension to other counties to be by annexation," and it added that they would enable other areas to pay "an equitable share of the cost of the previously constructed BART system," as well as for the extension themselves.

After considerable debate the BART directors decided to omit the "only" from a declaration of San Francisco, Pittsburg-Antioch and Livermore-Pleasanton.

by Waldie which it adopted, which originally said that only by annexing to and buying in to the BART district could other counties join the system.

At issue is the San Francisco plan to develop a BART extension to International Airport in San Mateo.

With hotels of major stature springing up all along the San Mateo County Bayside to tap the airport tourist bonanza, San Francisco has been pressing to build the rapid transit between airport and city.

Its officials have argued (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

STORE PREVIEW — North County civic leaders and their families turned out Monday for an advance glimpse of the new Sears, Roebuck and Co. store in San Bruno. Norman Merkle, vice president of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Neil Christal, Miss San Bruno Jody Rose and store manager William Walsh are shown at preview. The store in the Tanforan Park shopping center will open at 9:30 a.m. today with Congressman Paul McCloskey, State Senator Richard Dolwig and Assemblyman Leo Ryan present. (PostPhoto) ism, improved educational programs on narcotics and drug abuse, as well as better communications between parents, teachers and administration.

"If education is our best investment," said Dr. Connolly, "we should unceasingly strive to provide an educational program of excellence to meet the needs of all students within the financial means of the community."

Tolson, at 28, is the first black member of the community to strive for a high school board seat. He is a Bank of American field representative, whose activities are primarily best known to the youth involved with recreation.

Of non-violent makeup, Tolson advocates greater expression by youth. A six-year resident of Daly City, Tolson believes youth also must have greater involvement.

So does Sloane who at 41 is the director of San Francisco State's International Relations Center.

However, Sloane also qualifies his statement on youth that the board, not the students must make the decisions.

Sloane, who has been going house to house in the district's communities, favors modular scheduling, raps "half truths" in drug education and places himself in full accord with the new emphasis of the state Department of Education "new enlightened program" to try to reduce the dehumanization of students' lives.

He also favors open campus, or at least giving students the opportunity to show they are responsible; however, on busing he asserts, "My own feeling is that although racially integrated schools are desirable, busing for this purpose is at best only a stop-gap measure."

Baker is a 47 year old retired military man who moved to the district 14 months ago. He's an unknown entity in the area both personally and politically.

And, he's been relatively quiet, as has Tolson, in regard to public statements of desires, beliefs and philosophies.

Baker, who works in the office of the San Francisco Public Administrator, has a daughter in the elementary system, but none in high school.

Orphaned at the age of 10 and reared in Nebraska and Kansas, Baker's nature has been described as conservative to an extent.

The four are vying for the seat vacated by Elio Fontana after 18 years.

Suspect Bites D.C. Officer

A police officer and a store employee were bitten by a San Francisco man who authorities alleged was resisting arrest at a Daly City Shopping center.

Finally subdued by the officer and three citizens was Robert Lebeau, 24, who was charged by police with assault and battery, assault on a police officer, resisting arrest and possession of stolen property.

Airport Chief to be Named

Four new job titles were created Monday for San Francisco International Airport executives, and Airport Manager George Hansen won't hold the top one.

The new job titles, Airport Director and three Deputy Directors, were approved by San Francisco's Board of Supervisors.

William E. McDonnell, president of the new Airports Commission, had asked for approval.

He said an Airport Director would be paid $39,078 per year, the same as Public Utilities Manager James Kennedy Carr is getting paid.

The three Deputy Directors, for Business, Operations, and Planning, would be paid $33,748 per year.

McDonnell said the new Director would be named by the Airports Commission in two weeks, and that Hansen has declined the job.

Hansen has held the airport management for five and one-half years.

McDonnell said Hansen refused to be a candidate for the new post because he is due to retire next year.

Hansen is reportedly "in line" for one of the new deputy job titles, Deputy Director of Operations. The salary would be $1,612 per year more than his existing $32,136 annual pay rate.

Others who are "in line" for the new deputy director titles include:

Emmett Smith, assistant general manager of the airport for business; Dale Fearn, assistant manager for planning; and S. J. Tringali, operations superintendent.

Carr, the city's General Manager of public utilities, is considered to be the prime candidate for the new post of Director.

The Airport Commission announced weeks ago that it was conducting a nationwide search for a man to head the airport.

Hotel 'Park' in San Bruno

Contracts have been awarded for planning a 70-acre office and hotel "park" in San Bruno, at Junipero Serra and Interstate 380 Freeways.

The awards were announced by Aetna Life & Casualty, owners of the property, and by the real estate firm of Coldwell, Banker, who will manage the park and act as sales agent.

The architectural firm of Welton Becket, Los Angeles, will prepare a master plan.

Economic feasibility and market development studies will be done by Real Estate Research Corporation, of San Francisco.

Engineering will be done by Moffatt & Nichols, of Long Beach; and L. T. Evans of Los Angeles has been chosen for soils and foundation engineering.

Developer of the project is Lewis W. Douglas.

Buri Buri Drug Problem

"Time has run out. Buri Buri has a drug problem. This means our children in the Buri Buri community of South San Francisco are being exposed to the drug society," Mrs. Marvin Jauch, Buri Buri school drug chairman, reported.

The first step to meet the drug problem, according to the Buri Buri Drug Committee (Mmes. Jauch, Robert Miller, Gordon Lutticken and Leo Parodi), is to become well informed. "You have no guarantee that your child will not experiment with drugs," Mrs. Jauch continued.

In order to help parents become informed, Buri Buri School will sponsor a Parents Drug Program on Tuesday, October 27, at 8 p.m. at the school in the all-purpose room.

Local professional people will serve on a panel and answer questions during a question-answer format. Members of the panel will include: Dr. Elizabeth J. Macauley, Fred H. Bulis, pharmacist, and Detective Doug McCool, South San Francisco Police Department.

Weak Recall Response Predicted

San Bruno Councilman Dick Griffith has predicted a weak response to an effort to oust him and fellow councilman Ted Long and Mayor Neil Christal through recall.

Speaking for himself in a prepared release Griffith said he would respond to a notice of intention to circulate a special election petition "within the legally prescribed time in a 500-word statement that may surprise a few people."

Griffith predicts that not more than 1,000 of the necessary 4,000 signatures required for a recall election will be obtained.

"I would be very surprised if the people of Portola Highlands, Pacific Heights and Monte Verde would sign a petition against the only councilmen (presumably the three facing recall) who have protected them against the threat of apartment development," said Griffith.

He also said Rollingwood and lower San Bruno residents "repeatedly harassed by dirt hauls and jet noise" can expect little help from replacements.

Salesman Found Dead

Stephen Gallagher, 27, an insurance salesman of 45 Pointseta, Daly City, was found dead in his apartment by his two brothers early Sunday afternoon, the coroner's office reported today.

Coroner's investigators reported Gallagher had a cardiac and diabetic condition. His body was discovered by his brothers, Michael and Peter J. Gallagher, both of San Francisco.

bogged down during the regular sessions.

The other warding change pertains to section 21126 and concerns the matter of the authority of the superintendent to screen all materials presented to the board.

Resident Ed Toby requested the trustees define the policy so there would be a distinction between what constitutes a report, a recommendation and information.

Toby said he feared that the board could easily become a rubber stamp of the superintendent's ideas and desires if they blindly accept only that information which he feels necessary they have.

Trustee Bill Starmer conceded that the superintendent "does enjoy certain rights as an administrator," but he said he none-the-less would like to receive each bit of information the superintendent receives on all action items, pro or con.

The final change in the policy is that "all reports or recommendations for board action and/or information from any officer or employee under the direction of the superintendent shall be made to the superintendent and to the board members."

Drug Abuse Meet Topic

"Legal and Medical Problems from Drug Abuse," is the topic for discussion Thursday night at Monte Verde School in San Bruno. The Drug Abuse Parent Education Committee is sponsoring the 8 p.m. meeting.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Robert Carey, and Dr. Stanford B. Rossier, president of the Citizens Council on Drug Abuse, will be the featured speakers.

SSF Reading Cut Back

The Miller-Unruh reading program, cut from the South San Francisco Unified School District, will remain cut for the rest of this school year at least.

Trustees were unanimous in their decision after hearing from principals of two schools—Skyline and Monte Verde—whose programs were curtailed.

The cutback was made by the board members because the state funds for the program had been cut off from the district.

Under the program the district has nine (12 before the cut) special reading teachers who work with small groups of youngsters having reading problems.

Seven of the district's schools have retained the same program they had last year. Two schools have reduced from one full-time to one half-time reading teacher, one school changed its program from one full-time to a full-time-and-a-half teacher position, and the two schools completely eliminating the program each previously had a one-half-time and a full-time reading teacher.

In essence the principals said that since the board went ahead and cut the program they would leave it cut for the rest of this year rather than reinstating it now under pressures of a small number of people and in doing so fouling up the entire school's operation.

Both schools are taking measures to fill the void by supplying special reading classes through teacher aids.

Misuse of Flag Charged clubs were going to "work with in the system to preserve the democratic system and stop using the flag to arouse indignation. It means something more to me than just a piece of cloth."

"I have seen my friends wrapped in that flag," he added.

"They (the other students) feel the nation is in distress, but I've lived longer than they have and I have mixed blood and I don't see the necessity for flying the flag that way."

Tobias asserted that the administration was attempting to show the public only what it wanted to see at the college.

"They are afraid of what this might do for the tax override election. I personally feel that the school needs more money and I will work to help the tax override election but only if the burden is shifted from the homeowners to the big corporations. The big firms in this country benefit from the trained students turned out by the colleges."

Extension of BARTD by Annexation

against any policy statement that might rule out other possible methods of financing a BART extension to the big airport in San Mateo County.

With San Mateo more than reluctant to be assessed for the expensive BART transit complex which some critics here have felt would primarily benefit San Francisco and Oakland commercial and business interests, several alternative plans, in addition to having San Mateo "buy in" are under study.

In establishing first priorities for construction of rail extensions inside the district, the board statement insisted that: "Although clearly a statement of construction priority within the present district, (it) will in no way impede regional planning, construction or the concept of an expanded rapid transit service which should, and must be the logical goal of the district."

The BART board also approved agreements on station and parking lot plans with Concord and Richmond, ending long disputes.

It was informed by AC Transit President William E. Berk that AC would prefer to delay a joint meeting with the board on proposed East Bay feeder route changes to December.

CD Sirens to Be Tested on Friday

San Mateo County will participate in a test of civil defense warning sirens Friday at 11 a.m. James V. Fitzgerald, area civil defense coordinator, reports.

The test will consist of a one-minute steady blast followed by a period of silence, then a one-minute wavering blast.

If sirens, part of a nationwide warning system, were used for an actual emergency, blasts would be much longer, from three to five minutes in length.

The steady blast is an alert sign and is used to warn of an impending non-war emergency such as a tidal wave or other potential disaster, Fitzgerald said. Persons hearing this signal should listen to local radio or TV stations for additional information.

A wavering blast is an attack warning signal and would indicate that an enemy attack upon the country had been detected.

Mrs. McCormick and her husband Frank have resided at 179 Crestwood Drive, Daly City, the past three years after many, many years in San Francisco, where they were married January 1, 1920. There now are two sons, a daughter, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

San Brunans Burglarized

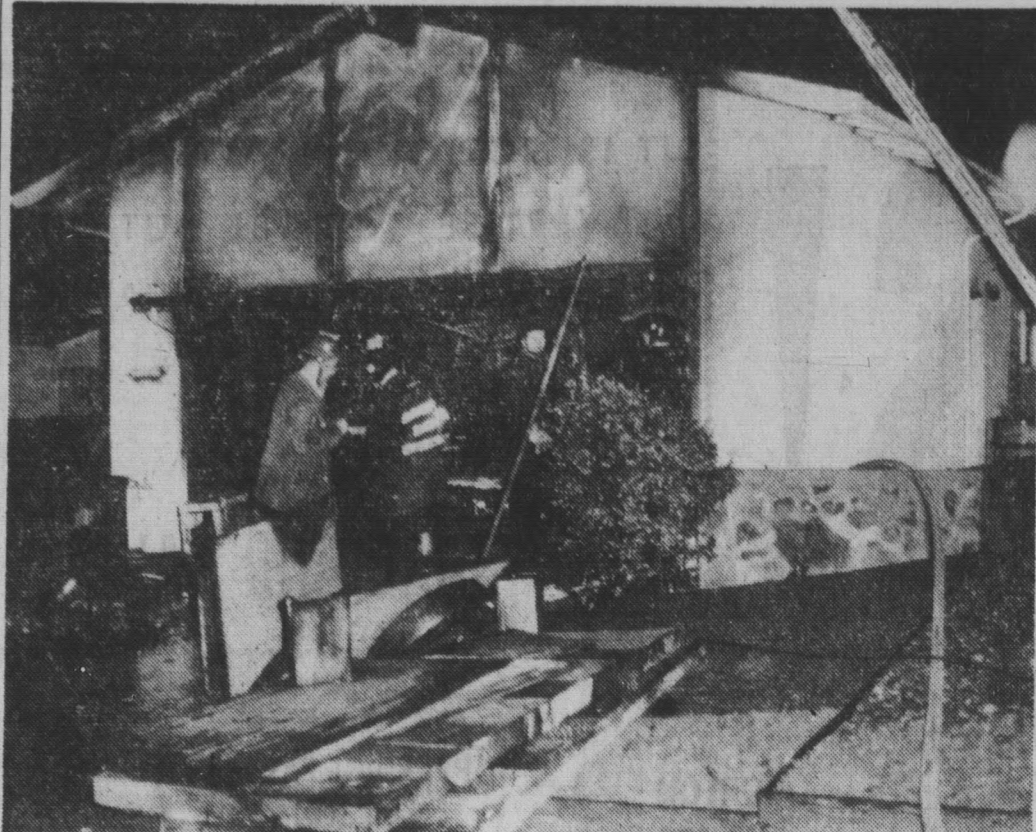

While gardening in her back yard, a San Bruno woman and her friend were burglarized of $379.

Police said the incident happened between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. October 29 at 1082 Huntington Ave.

According to police, someone jimmied the front door lock of the residence while Mrs. Emma Mae Byrne and her friend were in the back yard.

Police said the thief took a wallet of Mrs. Byrne's containing $16 and some credit cards and the friend's wallet containing $353.

In another burglary, thieves took a $225 movie projector from William Hall, 172 Diamond St. Police said entrance was gained by kicking in the garage door. The theft occurred during the day yesterday.

SCENE OF GASOLINE fume fire in San Bruno shows firemen probing through the ruins of this garage. (Post photo)

Bruno Fire Burns Man

An 18-year-old Pacifican, cleaning the engine compartment of a car, suffered serious second degree burns Wednesday when gasoline fumes were ignited by the pilot light of a water heater in a San Bruno garage.

Rufus Alexander of 251 Crestmoor Drive, Pacifica, was reported in serious condition at Peninsula Hospital, where he was rushed with apparent second degree burns of the neck, both hands and the legs.

Alexander, according to San Bruno Fire Marshal Harper Peterson, was working in the garage of 3250 Longview Drive, San Bruno, rented by H. J. Falaize, who with another Pacifican, Tom Sutter, was inside the house when the flames flashed up over Alexander.

Alexander yelled, "Fire!" and Falaize and Sutter, who had been watching television, dashed out to the garage, ripped off Alexander's flaming shirt and took him to a neighbor's home until an ambulance arrived, authorities said.

The garage was gutted, the engineless auto destroyed, and a sports car parked outside the garage in the driveway damaged in the blaze, Peterson said.

"With all that gasoline in there," he added, "It was really hotter than heck!"

Bandit at D.C. Station

A skinny bandit, armed with a knife in one hand and a revolver in the other, robbed a Daly City gas station and its attendant on Thursday.

Daly City police officer John Moore said the attendant, 22 year old Clarence Sickinger, suffered the greater loss. The robber fled the Joe Farrell Phillips 66 station at 2700 Bayshore, with $210 from Sickinger's wallet and $65 in station funds.

Sickinger was fixing a tire at 6:50 a.m., when the suspect, 30 to 35 years of age, and "skinny," Moore said, approached the attendant.

He had a kitchen knife in one hand and what appeared to be a 22-caliber revolver in the other.

He was very business like, the victim told police.

The suspect ordered Sickinger to lie down on the floor and give up his wallet and the keys to the outside cash box.

San Mateo's Screaming Eagles Committee today reminded local residents that this is the time to plan Christmas packages and letters to the city's "adopted sons" Company A, stationed in Vietnam.

Co-Chairmen Mrs. Barbara Schroeder and Mrs. Linda Giese in their public appeal emphasized: "Undoubtedly we are all aware that the Vietnam War and the United States involvement in it is a bitterly controversial national issue.

"But the issue which poses great concern to us here in San Mateo is the need to provide whatever moral support and spiritual comfort we can for the young American men who have been sent to Vietnam. Certainly, there is no doubt that none of them want to be there. They are discharging a duty.

"Probably no other time of year brings more sadness to them than the holidays when they find themselves so far from home and loved ones.

"Christmas is approaching all too rapidly, and many of us will be busy preparing for a happy holiday for our families. It is all the more important that we remember to include San Mateo's adopted sons. How welcome is a Christmas card, an encouraging letter, a small gift or food package. This is the time that they need to be assured we have not forgotten them," they said.

Mrs. Giese noted that the San Mateo's Screaming Eagles was killed a short time later. The committee is a non-profit organization, officially endorsed by the City of San Mateo. The committee has just received updated roster lists giving the names of the men in the company. Mrs. Giese's efforts led to the formation of the committee. The direct address to the unit and citywide morale-boosting company is: "A" Company, Marine Corps Air Station, San Diego, California 92161. The company will arrive for the past two years. It is 327th Inf., 1st Bn., 101st Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, North Carolina 28503. The company is also known as a request of herborne Div., APO 96383, San Francisco, Sgt. Joe Artavia. KANAB, Utah (AP) — An autopsy was performed Sunday on the body of a California pilot who died in a weekend plane crash near Kanab. The results are expected within a few days.

Killed in the crash Saturday was Paul R. Wolff, Sausalito, who had filed a flight plan from Fresno, Calif., to Denver.

Kane County Sheriff LeNard Johnson said Federal Aviation Administration officials told him Wolff had radioed shortly before the crash that he was flying at an altitude of 28,000 feet.

The FAA said the flight plan called for an altitude of 13,500 feet.

Johnson said hunters, watching the mishap through rifle scopes, reported the plane entered a dive and pulled out, with a wing coming off and striking the vertical section of the tail. The plane then spun to the ground, witnesses said.

The Alvin Duskin Dress Shops in the Bay Area are featuring a special dress sale to benefit Wilson Riles in his campaign for State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Duskin store in San Mateo is the Design Shop at 120 W. 25th Avenue. The Design Shop will be open on Sunday afternoon, October 25th, with informal modeling from 2 to 5 p.m. by Youth for Riles members. The sale will continue on Monday and Tuesday, October 26th and 27th, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Selection of an appraisal firm to review the valuation of the Hillsdale Shopping Center, which underwent an unexpected reduction this year, will be recommended to the San Mateo City Council on November 5.

City Manager Don Mueller said he has been interviewing a number of appraisers and is in the process of examining what limitations may be legally imposed on the city's independent review.

IN
MATEO

The grand old rebel ferryboat San Mateo — which went sideways or backwards as often as forwards when she plied San Francisco Bay waters—may become the foundation of a tourist-attraction “heritage center” on Puget Sound.

Ships, an organization dedicated to creating an aquatic museum center.

Washington State history buffs are working hard to get the State Highway Department to transfer custody of the San Mateo to the State Parks Department, which now preserves 37 heritage parks, but none related to the maritime heritage of the state.

Leading the effort to put the San Mateo back in service to the public as a museum attraction is Robert Ashley, an attorney and president of Save Our

The San Mateo will someday visit Puget Sound communities, along with the three-masted Wawona and the Arthur Foss, and display articles from the maritime past, an art museum of sea-related paintings and sculptures, and artifacts on loan, Ashley and other S.O.S. members envision.

The traveling ferryboat would link the maritime displays now widely scattered about Puget Sound. Presently, the Navy Yard displays the battleship Missouri; an old submarine lies at the south shore and the Wawona at the north shore of Lake Union; fishing boats moor at Fishermen's Terrace and antique railroad engines and cars are in far-off Snoqualmie.

All of this is why Californians can't get the ferryboat back. When word went out last spring that the San Mateo, now resting in Bainbridge Island's Eagle Harbor, would be disposed of, possibly on the auction block, Bay Area fans and others tried to get the boat.

That alerted the Washington State people, who exercised their connections—and started a wave of nostalgia rolling down the Sound. Knowing that the State Legislature is slow to act on such matters, they are pushing private subscription and have awakened State Parks interest.

They are trying to set up a working agreement among city, county and state agencies to develop the heritage center to serve the Pacific Northwest.

As for the San Mateo, a recent article in the Seattle Times reported that it is the lone survivor in this country of a fleet of six similar ferries built in San Francisco and idled by the completion of the Bay Area bridge system.

An identical sister ship, the Shasta, is a floating restaurant on the Willamette River; another sister ship, the Yosemite, steamed all the way from San Francisco to Uruguay.

Graham F. Shrader, who captained the San Mateo in 1940, explained the "rebel" characteristics of the San Mateo as built into the boat.

It has a solid shaft running its full length, with a propeller at each end. When running slow, even the rudder could not overcome the propeller torque created, and the boat would move enabwise to one side or the other.

Sometimes, in the deep confines of the engine room, the engineer would lose his sense of direction, and the boat would move in the opposite way to that intended.

Before its retirement, it has piled up an impressive score of collisions with ferry slips, and of running away—which those who rode her may remember.

But it was one of the most stable boats on the water. Its owners, the Southern Pacific Railroad, to overcome the top-heaviness of a high stack, put 50 tons of railroad brakeshoes deep in the steel hull for ballast.

Puget Sounders aren't worried about the propeller torque — they've learned that all you have to do is disconnect or reduce one of the propellers.

The driver of the truck fled the scene on foot and was not immediately found.

According to the CHP, traffic was backed up about a half-mile on Interstate 80 because of a previous accident.

An officer had gone back to direct traffic when the tractor-trailer carrying a load of welding rods came around a curve sounding its horn.

The truck hit a CHP car at about 40 miles per hour then hit 13 more vehicles. It came to a stop after it went over a bank, pushing three cars ahead of it.

Highway patrol officers said the truck was "apparently a runaway" and added tests would be conducted on its mechanical condition.

The CHP said it was also searching for a white car believed to be a Lincoln with Utah license plates that was reportedly involved with the first accident, although it reportedly left the scene.

'Ben' P-TA Sets Goals for the Year

Optimism and enthusiasm are the key words at Ben Franklin this year, reports the P-TA's president, Mrs. Lois Faulkner.

The P-TA's goal is to create a feeling of good will, and help to keep open the lines of communication between the students, faculty, parents and the community, she points out.

They are planning activities involving both the students and parents.

An intramural games day is planned for November at Ben Franklin with both a boys and a girls championship play-off game.

The P-TA will sell hot dogs and soft drinks to the spectators. All parents of B.F. students and members of the community are invited to attend. Notice of the exact date will be posted soon.

The executive board of the Daly City unit, under the guidance of its president, includes Mrs. Harry O'Neil, vice president; Ed McIntosh, honoring vice president; Mrs. Gloria Rodriguez, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Coppack, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren Zucker, treasurer; Mrs. J. Quinn, financial secretary; Mrs. G. Cusulos, historian.

Donald McKenzie, teacher representative; Mrs. Jo Banks, membership chairman; Jim Sharpen, parliamentarian; Mrs. M. Gillain and Mrs. N. Espina, hospitality chairmen; Sim Wyatt, auditor; and Mrs. Nicholas Rigas, publicity.

Awards to Members of Pack 296

At the South San Francisco Cub Scout Pack 296 meeting, Cubmaster Jim Hurst presented the new cubs, Lance Coletto, Sy Coletto, Nick Grigich, Charles Salazar, Frank Zito, David Miller, Jim Ford, and Scott Sologas with their Bobcat pins.

Wolf Badges were presented to John Segale, and Vince Senatore. David Kennedy received his Bear Badge. George Forrester received a gold and a silver arrow, Michael Venture a silver arrow and David Barrett two silver arrows. Vince Senatore, Sy Coletto and David Miller received their Denner Stripes. John Segale, Lance Coletto and Nick Grigich received their Assistant Denner Stripes.

The theme for the month was "Magicians" and each den did a magic act.

New committee members were introduced to the pack. Marion Coletto a den mother; Jane Solaggo an assistant den mother; Roger Miller, the committee chairman; Vincent Senatore, treasurer.

The Cubby award was given to Den 3 for best attendance by boys and parents.

John F. Kennedy P-TA is having a garage sale November 28 at their school as a fund raising project.

Cub Scout Pack 185's Halloween Party will be today at 7:30 p.m. at United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate, Daly City.

Holy Angels Social

"Hurry, hurry, hurry," is the message from Mrs. John Lagomarsino, the publicity chairman for the Holy Angels Women's Guild.

The annual parish social is on tap for November 7 and there is less than a week left for members of the parish, their friends and neighbors, to make reservations. According to Mrs. Lagomarsino, reservations will definitely have to close on Monday so persons wishing to insure tables for their parties should call Mrs. Joseph Zanobini as soon as possible.

This yearly funfest is for all adults, married and single, and tickets are $10 per person or $20 per couple. The tickets include dancing to live music, dinner and cocktails, Mrs. Lagomarsino indicated.

The event will be held in the Italian American Social Club, 25 Russian Avenue in San Francisco. Cocktails will be served beginning at 7 p.m. with dinner at 8 p.m.

MRS. RAYMOND RINALDI, chairman of the Riordan Guild's fashion show-luncheon, Bewitching Fashions, has made public the names of the Models selected for the show by Mrs. John Ferruson and Mrs. Vito Giotto, the models committee chairman.

Wearing the styles provided by a number of shops in the Stonestown Shopping Center will be Mrs. John Cresalia, Mrs. Gil Restani, Mrs. Dario Baciocco, Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Mrs. Eugene Almirol, Mrs. Richard Cottrell, Mrs. John Quattrin, Mrs. Martin Hughes, Mrs. Joseph Peraino, Mrs. John Hannan, Mrs. Joseph Piccinini, and Mrs. Edward Wildgans. Junior miss fashions will be modeled by Sally Griffin and Michele Almeida.

The afternoon affair will be held at Chaminade Hall on the Riordan campus on Saturday, October 31, beginning at noon. Mrs. William Feeley and Mrs. John Minkel will be in charge of the hostesses who will be welcoming guests to the benefit.

Others who will be busy behind the scenes during the afternoon include Mrs. Thomas Blanchard and Mrs. Gux Mazzon, programs; Mrs. John Sweeney and Mrs. Daniel Crowley, favors; Mrs. William Trujillo, Mrs. Eugene Eden and Mrs. Roaul Pena, refreshments; Mrs. James Scullion and Mrs. Joseph O'Sullivan, dining room; and Mrs. Frank Kilmartin and Mrs. Harold Adamich who will take charge of the social hour. Mrs. Leo Thiel and Mrs. Joseph Hazelwood along with Mrs. Vincent Donahue and Mrs. Alexander Herrera have been working to arrange for many lovely door prizes and a number of cash awards which will be presented during the afternoon. Mrs. David Mayer has assisted the chairmen, Mrs. Rinaldi and Mrs. John Domecus, with publicity for the luncheon.

FRIENDS OUTSIDE, the service organization that cares to be involved with families and men and women coming out of jail by providing material assistance, concern and fellowship, will hold an open house and buffet luncheon, on Friday, November 6 between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at Lakeside Presbyterian Church.

Persons interested or in attending are urged to contact Mrs. Rudy Enberg of South San Francisco or by calling Friends Outside, 564-8833.

MRS. BARBARA REICH, publicity chairman for the San Mateo County YWCA, reports that the "Y" Bridge Club is meeting every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Jelwood Drive at Southgate.

Players of all ages and all experience levels are welcome. For more information call the Y, 756-7370.

THIS FRIDAY evening will be the time, the place is the Goldroom of the new Meat Block restaurant in the Skyline Plaza Center, and the occasion is the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's Cocktail Award Party.

According to Mrs. Mario Mangini, publicity chairman, the highlight of the evening's festivities will be the presentation of a lovely Coupe DeVille Cadillac to one of the guild's patrons.

The fund raiser has been planned by Mrs. Joseph Schott to help the guild fulfill its pledge to the hospital's Coronary Care unit. The existing outstanding balance on that pledge is $57,000 and all the guild's members are working hard to sell enough tickets to this party to make a substantial dent in that figure.

NOVEMBER NOEL, a gala event featuring fall fashions, a holiday motif, exciting prizes, champagne, and congenial company, will be presented by the members of the Mercy Guild on November 14 at noon, according to Mrs. Albert Bucci, publicity chairman.

McDonald's of Serramonte has selected a variety of fashions and Rosemary Calonica, style coordinator, has promised that guests will see a variety of fashions in the mini, midi and maxi categories.

A champagne happy hour will precede the show and champagne will be served during the luncheon. Charles McKay and members of the Mercy High School Fathers Club will assist in serving the champagne.

Luncheon and fashion show tickets are $5.50 per person and reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Richard Holl, 586-7779 or Mrs. Cornelius Maloney, 586-3448. Proceeds from the sale of show tickets and all donations to the guild's fund will be used to purchase special educational material for the students at Mercy High School, Mrs. Bucci explained.

JENNIFER MAKIN, of Manchester England, and Judith Whitson the South Wales lass who was the secretary for Evelyn de Rothschild, are the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crandall of Westlake.

The pair are stopping over in the Bay Area on their way north to Canada. Miss Whitson's agenda also includes a trek to Australia.

THE ANNUAL EL TORO Fleeting meeting of the Lake Merced Sailing Club will be held this Friday evening in the Daly City home of Paul Dissing.

Miss Tauber and 25 other Troubadors, all Daly City residents, will perform in a half-hour show at the 6:30 p.m., November 7, gathering at Sons of Italy Hall, 5051 Mission Street.

They have learned to Square Dance and have entertained patients in bay area hospitals and for service organizations. Mrs. Carol Barraco is the teacher and Mrs. Eleanor Ormanski the classroom aide who works with the students, dancing and placing them in the Community Training Program.

The students, 18 to 21 years old, train for jobs in the community ultimately to work out as jobs for them when graduation comes at age 21.

Benjamin Franklin School in Colma is celebrating "Spirit Week" with activities begun yesterday. There will be competitive games during the lunch hours between students who have been divided into sections.

Tuesday's activities included a balloon toss and a boy's hula hoop contest followed by a root beer drinking contest. There will be a co-ed wheel barrel game today and Thursday's feature is to be a co-ed three-legged race and a pie-eating contest.

Thursday will be "Green and White" day. All students are to wear the school's colors. The section with 100 percent of the students wearing green and white will receive an extra 100 points toward the winner's plaque. A rally will be held before Thursday's football game against Alta Loma. The seventh graders will be dismissed from class, when the game starts, so they, as well as the eighth graders, can root for their team.

A Halloween dance, for both the seventh and eighth grade students, is scheduled for Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Benjamin Franklin students having a student body card will be admitted free.

The "West Wind" band has been hired to play for the dance. Two dance contests will be held and a door award will be given. The dance will be well chaperoned, school officials said.

BOWLING CLUB — Advisor: Mr. Curley.

Members participate in weekly competitive bowling. The bowling Club also hosts a yearly Bowling Invitational.

Distributive Education Clubs of America. Deca runs TN's school supply store, Deca Den. Members also attend big state conferences and compete in various business skill competitions.

FILM CLUB — Advisor: Mr. Campbell.

Film freaks delight! Members meet twice a month to view old movies that the club votes on. Movies are paid for by semester dues of $5.00.

This semester's movie selections include The Private Life of Henry VIII, Prisoner of Zenda (a Douglas Fairbanks Jr. swashbuckler), Call Me Madam (an Ethel Merman musical), The Thirty Nine Steps (an Alfred Hitchcock goody).

Topper (the original starring Carey Grant) and a Busby Berkeley Spectacular.

Guests are welcome to come and see these movies. Movies are shown every other Monday night at 7:00 in room 39. Admission for non-members is $1.00 at the door.

Also included in this semester's Film Club activities is the Filmorama No. 1, an unusual collection of film shorts chosen especially for members of the Film Club. They range from "The Iron Nag" to "The Loves of Franistan" to "Betty Boop's Rise to Fame." A fund raising Film Club Ball will also be held on January 22 for Film Club members and their dates. Get Acquainted Meetings of Y-Indian Guides in DC

Y Indian Guides in Daly City will hold a Get Acquainted Council at Daniel Webster school on October 28-29 at 7:29 p.m. according to Paul Campion and Rich Freund, council chairmen for the event.

All fathers with sons between the ages of 5 and 9 are invited to bring their sons on Wednesday to see slides and ask questions about the YMCA sponsored program.

Crafts that different groups have made will also be shown as an example of what the boys do.

Thursday will be a meeting for fathers only.

Y Indian Guides is a program where six to eight fathers and their sons meet in a group in their own homes learning about American Indian Life through making craft items, seeing movies, etc.

Not only do they have a good time but it is an excellent opportunity for each father to develop a sound relationship with his son in the intimacy of a

Supervisors of S. Bruno Departments

GEORGE G. GAUGLER is Sears mid-California district manager. Gaugler is the senior Sears, Roebuck executive in northern California with direct responsibility for Sears retail and catalog units, as well as service and distribution centers in the seven Bay Area counties.

The hundreds of men and women who serve as division managers form the foundation of Sears management structure. They supervise various departments offering everything from women's wear to building materials.

In the new San Bruno store are: Roy Loutzeheiser, Shirley Holleman, Ray Torres, Warren Boschin, Doris Jaquith, Bill Funk, Fred Heauser, Jim Bridges, Jerry Marron, Ken DeCew, Bob Schroeder, David Caine, Bill Kelly, Wayne Barkley, Chris Duff, Rob Babb, Don Bugna, Vi Wilson, Ann Norcia, Bob Christie, Bill Regan, Paul Turnquest, Maxine Hickman, Dorette Ballati, Henry Favro, Jack Edwards, Fred Cunningham and Jerry Mohn.

Supervising the various service functions are: Antonio Leal, credit sales manager, Robbie Ferrin, head cashier, Burl Flanigan, customer service manager and Jim Walsh, automotive center manager.

Sears, Roebuck Staging Bruno Opening Today

Final dress rehearsals were held yesterday as Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s new retail outlet in San Bruno geared for today's opening.

Cast in the leading roles will be Sears president, Arthur Wood.

Wood, who makes his home in Chicago, will play the lead at San Bruno.

The cast will include more than 1200 employees at both the new Tanforan Shopping Center store in San Bruno and the Cupertino complex in Valco Park.

Special guest stars for tomorrow's premier will be Winnie-the-Pooh, Wozzie, Heffalump and Tigger from Disneyland.

Some of those in supporting roles include state senators, congressmen, mayors, the company pilot, public relation and advertising men, operating superintendents, customer service managers, credit managers, maintenance engineers, automotive service managers, softlines and hardlines merchandise managers, personnel managers, merchandise control managers, receiving and shipping managers, controllers, display managers and even a clock that performs countdowns and guides astronauts to the moon.

"Curtain time" is 9:30 a.m. The show has been produced by George G. Gaugler, general manager of the Mid-California district which now includes 12 stores, 20 satellite stores, two distribution centers and seven service centers.

William Walsh directs the San Bruno production.

Premier audiences are expected to run into the thousands while millions will attend during ensuing seasons.

Style Computer

Much like the electronic brains that tell us — almost the moment the polls are closed — how presidential elections will turn out, electronic computers are measuring San Bruno fashion preferences almost every day.

The job is done in a unique fashion distribution center serving Sears-San Bruno store. The center is located in Los Angeles. It is one of five such facilities whose job it is to speed the newest of fashions to Sears stores throughout the country.

We're Democrats. And, we're proud of it.

We're Californians. And, we're proud of that, too.

Up until recently, what our party wanted was generally good for our State. That's why we worked hard for our party. But, this year, in the big race, what our party offers is not what California needs.

So, we're backing Governor Ronald Reagan for re-election.

Governor Reagan is an honest man. An effective leader. He's not afraid to meet the hard issues head-on. He's got guts. And good, common sense. He's not just another politician.

Governor Reagan is what California needs more of.

A 39-year-old electrician was killed on El Camino Real Saturday after he lost control of his car, causing it to skid into the path of another auto, South San Francisco police reported.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help hospital at 9:20 p.m. was Wayne Richard Henderson, of 236 Longford drive, South San Francisco.

Two others were injured, the driver of the other vehicle and a passenger in Henderson's car, Thomas Graves, 39, of 51 San Felipe avenue, South San Francisco.

Officers reported Henderson was northbound on El Camino Real south of Hickey Boulevard when he apparently lost control of his small, foreign-made vehicle. The auto crossed the center of the highway, glanced off a utility pole and careened back into the southbound lanes. There it was hit by a car driven by Miss Mary Hill, 70, a retired office worker of 316 Fairway drive, South San Francisco.

Officers said Miss Hill and Graves were not injured seriously.

He leaves his wife, Margaret.

Twelve Arrested on Drug Charges

Twelve Pacificans, including two juveniles, have been booked by San Bruno police on charges of visiting a place where marijuana was being used.

The San Brunans who occupy the San Diego Avenue residence where the arrest was made early Sunday escaped out the back door. Police said they would seek a complaint and warrant for their arrest.

According to police, they responded to a noise complaint. Upon entering the residence they smelled an odor similar to that of smoked marijuana. Police said they also found live lids of what appeared to be marijuana.

Booked, in addition to the juveniles, were: Juanita Hayes, 18, of 221 Hillside Dr.; Adele Madariaga, 20, of 719 Edgemark Avenue; James L. Nash, 20, of 221 Hillside Drive; James Gubbert, 22, of 949 Sacramento Terrace; Vincent Salvemini, 22, of 1135 Galvec; Phil Burdick, 18, of 148 Jaunita; Tom L. Abram, 19, of 244 Lauren; Charles K. Handcrafted Items Needed For Boutique

Handcrafted gift items are needed for the third annual Christmas Boutique at Periwinkle Art Gallery beginning November 10. This is a wonderful opportunity for creative persons, (senior citizens and housewives with small children) who are able to make salable gift items and earn extra Christmas money.

The Boutique idea started because Pacifica people complained of congestion in downtown San Francisco and Peninsula cities prior to Christmas. The need for unusual gifts has produced a great variety of items, and has proven that Pacificans are creative and industrious. Many families have discovered it is easier and more fun to Christmas shop in Pacifica.

San Bruno's Yoga Class

The twist posture will only be one of several positions which will be taught to students of Mrs. Gloria O'Keefe in San Bruno's new Yoga class or both men and women.

Classes will be held on Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and Thursday afternoon between 1:30-3 p.m.

Classes will run for a five week period with each class limited to fourteen students.

Registration is scheduled for October 29, and October 30 at the Recreation Center.

D.C. Schools Start Pilot Programs

The pilot "school council" program mandated in the Jefferson Elementary School's memorandum of agreement between trustees and teachers has been initiated at two Daly City schools.

The project involves Ben Franklin Intermediate and Thomas Edison Elementary schools. Ed McIntosh, the Franklin school principal, pointed out.

In addition to the principal, five teachers and five parents hold seats on the newly formed units.

Although their specific roles remain to be finalized, McIntosh said already four attitudes have come out of initial Franklin Council sessions:

"Openness and honesty among the members is essential to communication and understanding, open meetings will be the rule, rather than the exception, recommendations will be based on affects on students, parents, faculty and the general community, and students will be involved in deliberations whenever appropriate."

Purpose of the council, though not completely defined, McIntosh said, involves being a liaison group between parents and faculty and between parents and the board of trustees; viewing the school in its reality and make recommendations for change, trying to anticipate problems and taking corrective action before the problem develops.

Hearing complaints, studying them and making recommendations for improvement and to provide another channel for communication between home and school.

The council, to which members of the community may take matters related to Ben Franklin, meets on the first Thursday of each month.

Members will elect a chairman in December, according to McIntosh.

On the council are teachers, Dennis Carr, John Chronis, Carl Hunter, Mrs. Bonnie Johnston and Mrs. Jean Kaldahl and parents Mrs. Betty Conlan, Mrs. Pat Kaplan, Matt Murray, Albert Theis and James Wyatt.

HE'S OUR LT. GOVERNOR

ED REINECKE

... the doing-est Lt. Governor California's ever had!

In some states, Lt. Governor is just a position. In California it's a job.

The toughest job there is, next to Governor itself.

That's why when Governor Reagan had to choose a man for Lt. Governor he knew he'd have to choose an extraordinary man.

He chose Ed Reinecke.

A Businessman. An Engineer. A Congressman. An Administrator.

A man with a remarkable record of achievement.

Since his appointment Ed Reinecke's job has been expanded to include greater responsibilities than any other Lt. Governor in the United States.

He actively serves in 27 areas of responsibility—every one of them vitally important to the people of California:

President of State Senate • Governor's Cabinet • Regent, University of California • Trustee, California State Colleges • Chairman, Governor's Task Force on Narcotics Enforcement • Chairman, Commission of the California • Chairman, California Bicentennial Celebration Commission • California Disaster Council • Commission on Interstate Cooperation • Reciprocity Commission • State Lands Commission • Chairman, Interagency Council on Ocean Resources • Governor's Flood Task Force • Chairman, Environmental Policy Committee • Governor's 1970 Summer Job Campaign for Youth • Chairman, State Electronic Data Policy Committee • Office of Management Services • Intra State Policy Advisory Committee National Demonstration Program • Environmental Quality Study Council • Office of Intergovernmental Management • Council on Intergovernmental Relations • Intergovernmental Board on Electronic Data Processing • Model Cities Liaison Group • Model Cities Advisory Committee • California Public Service Education and Training Advisory Council • Intergovernmental Policy Advisory Committee • Intergovernmental Technical Advisory Committee.

Remember, The Number 2 job in the Number 1 state calls for a doer. It calls for Ed Reinecke. Again.

So when you walk into that voting booth—make sure you vote for Ed Reinecke.

Three Nabbed on Charges of Marijuana

Three musicians were arrested during their break at a Daly City dining spot Thursday. They were charged with possession of marijuana and other drugs, after an off duty San Francisco policeman became suspicious of their actions at Mr. G's.

Booked by Daly City police were Michael Turpin, 19, Hayward; Robert Wiseman, 205 Palmcrest, 23, Apt. 6 Daly City; Thomas Moulis, 19, same address as Wiseman's.

A spokesman for the police department said an off duty San Francisco police officer saw three of the four musicians leave the restaurant at 10:45 p.m. during a break in their playing.

He followed them to their car. The officer apparently suspected the trio of smoking marijuana and called Daly City police. Officers from Daly City, in searching the car, allegedly found marijuana in an ash tray, along with butts and ashes, and also a bagful of a powdered substance they believed to be a dangerous drug.

Look Ma, No Gun

Someone stole a security guard's revolver at the Cow Palace Thursday, but no one knows how.

Daly City police said Sgt. Alameda, 44, was about ready to go home, unloaded the .38-caliber weapon, and stuck it in his high-rise holster when a man came up and started talking with him.

The two talked for a few minutes and afterward the guard discovered the revolver missing.

Police searched the grounds but were unable to find the weapon.

Pacifica Man Files Suit for $100,000

Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore and a deputy, Michael Kerr, are defendants in a $100,000 lawsuit filed by a Pacifica hair stylist who was shot while being arrested.

The action was filed in Superior Court in Redwood City by Christopher Greenfield, 820 Arguello Boulevard, who was arrested by Kerr in Pacifica last November 12 for alleged possession of marijuana.

The complaint asserts that "plaintiff was lawfully conducting himself on a public street in Pacifica" when Kerr's gun was "negligently and carelessly" fired, wounding Greenfield in the arm and head, and inflicting "permanent" injuries.

Assistant Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart said Kerr was working as an undercover agent at the time and his gun accidentally discharged as he was arresting Greenfield and two other men. The bullet, Stewart said, nicked one of the suspect's ears.

The charge against Greenfield was dismissed after preliminary hearing in February.

Boy Bomber Suspects Arrested

Two 15-year-old Pacifica boys who assertedly fashioned "mole-crocks" out of glass Christmas ornaments were arrested by police last night on charges of possessing firebombs.

Police and firemen in the coastal community have been kept on the go the past three nights as a result of a series of firebomb instances, primarily at White Field.

Last night was said to be the quietest since Sunday, when eight of the "mole-crocks," made of soft drink and beer bottles, were tossed — one near the police department's parking lot.

There were eight more thrown in the Linda Mar area, where White Field is located, Monday night as well.

A police department source said the two youths, both of whom were taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Center, were remaining tight-lipped about the incidents. There was no indication whether or not their activity last night was related to those of previous nights, police said.

The pair had taken three-inch glass ornaments, filled them with gasoline and used rags as wicks. They were taken into custody in a vacant lot in the general area of White Field at 9:18 p.m. by police officers William Tafoya and Edward Burton.

'Menagerie' Lighting, Set Plants Mood

By JACK RUSSELL

It is hard to believe for a generation of theatre goers today immersed in such excesses as "Boon" and "Suddenly Last Summer" that Tennessee Williams could achieve a poignant Chakchavian mood.

This is never more evident than in the Skyline College production of "The Glass Menagerie," the play which started the controversial playwright on his tortured career.

Director Josie Cuervo, faced with cast problems, wisely decided to utilize the set and lighting to accomplish the necessary mood.

Subtle shifts of light flood the set and induce the watcher to blend in with the mood of the piece.

Top credits should go to the set designer Al Melodia and Richard Rohrbacher, lighting designer, for the evocation of a pre-1940 St. Louis apartment.

Pat Donohue struggles mightily with the key role of the mother, Amanda Wingfield, but she is so youthful looking and so vibrant in her appearance that a pseudo-Southern accent cannot create the beleaguered and yet battling character as conceived by Williams.

Ross Libonati, who has made a career at Skyline in playing put-upon young men, is quite at home in his role as the wandering son, Tom, who captures his illusions in nightly visits to the movies while staving off disaster at home.

Jan Downing was almost too traumatized as the crippled, shy daughter Laura Wingfield with her collection of glass animals. There should have been some bursts of animation, some sparks of life to reveal the girl she could have been without her mother's domination. Miss Downing remained in character throughout the play, however.

As the gentleman caller Tom Hollander was properly sensitive in the more poignant moments. He did not play the role in the coarse manner in which it has been portrayed by others.

In the final assessment Williams may be judged by this play and "A Streetcar Named Desire." Certainly the play has attracted hundreds of college and small theatre productions.

In an age of violence and shouting the quiet revelations of the backstreams of life make more sense than more strident efforts.

The production will continue Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Little Theatre.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

SHOPPING CARTS are abandoned everywhere. They lay in gutters. They block sidewalks. They stand on lawns in the best of residential districts. They are even seen along state highways!

The practice of stealing shopping carts is on the increase. The customer who may have good intentions of returning the shopping cart at his convenience probably will resent the word "stealing" but what better word describes the action of a person who deliberately walks off of a market's parking lot with a cart plainly marked "removal of this cart beyond the parking area violates Section 484 of the California Penal Code."

Markets report residents of apartment areas to be the most flagrant violators. The little old lady who pushes groceries to her apartment several blocks away from the store and parks the cart outside to be picked up by professional thieves or a passer-by who might have a need for "that particular type cart" is only one of the many types of cartlifters.

A MOTHER with a young infant tucked into a shopping cart, two toddlers behind her, strolled down a large shopping area caring less that the Supermarket whose cart she was using was three miles distant.

A young newspaper boy's parents must be aware of the fact that their son delivers newspapers every night with a Super X shopping cart.

During the California winter rains a member of the Better Business Bureau staff in a 30 minute drive through residential and business streets found and took pictures of six shopping carts lying in the creek bed which contributed to the flooding of property. Fifteen more abandoned carts were observed; some within a block of their market; others quite a distance and ONE overturned on Highway 280, miles from any shopping center.

In a survey of markets conducted by the BBB concerning the loss of shopping carts, one store reported loss of 50 carts costing $40 to $45. A store which provided three hundred shopping carts costing $30 each reported a loss of two hundred fifty carts. Only one firm which furnished a steady clientele with four carts reported no losses.

TODAY'S CONSUMER clamors for more protection through state and government legislation but feels no responsibility for store property discarded on his property. However, when mischievous and unruly youths converted "stolen" shopping carts into coasters and damaged property these same citizens stormed a city council with complaints of harassment.

Women across the United States took to picket lines to blame business for the high cost of living. They ignored the fact that the brazen, irresponsible consumer who steals credit cards, forges checks, shoplifts and "borrows" shopping carts impose an additional cost upon all business firms and an invisible tax upon the consumer.

Board Reverses; for 'Clean Air'

In a reversal of form the only Gerald F. Day sticking to his anti-18 guns. County Board of Supervisors recently endorsed Proposition 18, the so-called Clean Air Amendment on the November 3 ballot.

The measure would permit the electors of each county to decide whether to commit up to 25 per cent of its state gas tax road funds for development of mass transit.

Until recently, Robert St. Clair had been the lone champion among the local supervisors of Proposition 18. When the board took its original stand opposing the measure, generally on the basis that there is not enough road money at the present time, St. Clair cast the only negative vote.

Last week James V. Fitzgerald joined St. Clair's side but a majority of the board still remained opposed. Yesterday Jean Fassler and William M. Werder switched over, leaving only Gerald F. Day sticking to his anti-18 guns.

"I can't believe it," St. Clair exclaimed when the 4-1 vote was recorded. "Hallelujah."

Mrs. Fassler said she changed her vote only because the measure is merely enabling and does not commit counties to use road funds for transit purposes. Werder offered no explanation for his vote.

Fitzgerald, self-styled "champion of freeways," said there is no more room for north-south freeways in San Mateo County and no source of funds for it systems.

Day explained his opposition to Proposition 18 stems from his belief that all of the present road funds are needed for that purpose.

"I would certainly support adding to the current gas tax, however, for the purpose of mass transportation," Day said.

Suspect Arrested After Bruno Chase

San Bruno police have arrested a 20-year-old San Franciscan on charges of automobile theft after he led them on a merry chase in the vehicle and on foot.

Larry Grant McSeaton of 312 Mason Street was arrested by Officers Bob Porras and Jerry Canning at about 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said a San Bruno housewife had parked her car outside Albert's Market, 705 Jeuneville Avenue, leaving the keys in it and expecting to return immediately to it.

As she was coming out of the store minutes later she saw her car being driven away. She also saw Officer Porras not more than a block away. She yelled to him. The race was on.

Police said the officer gave chase in the police unit with the usual result of the suspect running signals and stop signs. The suspect's vehicle finally came to rest in the 400 block of Linden Avenue, almost behind the store where it was taken.

The driver got out and started running. Police gave chase, including Officer Canning. It ended on the dividing strip of El Camino Real, where the arrest was made.

Newman Is A Visceral Actor

The charisma that marks Paul Newman a superstar coupled with his intelligence and integrity as a person flowed out across a jam-packed S.F. Film Festival audience Saturday following a three hour retrospective tribute of 12 of his films.

While females, both old and young were predominant, the blue eyed actor draws strong admiration from males and tremendous respect from young filmmakers.

"I believe actors should cross the lines and get into directing. And so should the directors and technicians cross lines to better understand the other side of the business," he announced from the stage where he answered questions for an hour, noting that his wife was "probably out getting a chocolate soda because she'd heard his spiel so often."

"I used to work at bettering my acting and until a few years ago went back to classes at the Actor's Studio in New York. Six years ago I went back to the legitimate stage and since 1956 I've given the studio two weeks rehearsal for free to make mistakes off camera and establish a community rapport with my co-workers."

ONE TENDS to forget how long Newman has been giving thoughtful, well developed characterizations and the film clips show how first rate he was and how his individualism showed through back to his portrayal in 1957 of Rocky Graziano in "Somebody Up There Likes Me." He lived with Rocky for two weeks, he noted, in researching the role and talked like Marlon Brando between taking one heck of a beating in a five round fight sequence.

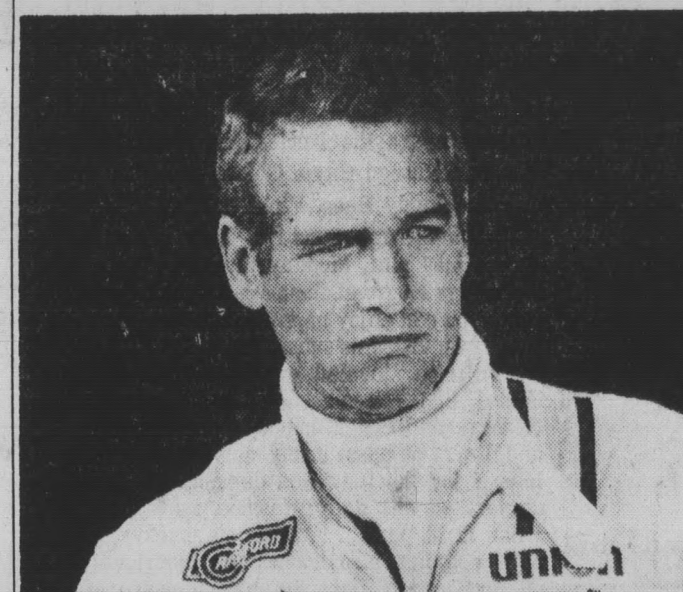

The following year he was teamed with Joanne Woodward (and married her) in "The Long Hot Summer" when Orson Wells bribes him to marry his daughter. Still affecting a Southern drawl, he resisted the seductive advances of a slim and beautiful Elizabeth Taylor in "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof." The scent of magnolias was still in his hair for a sterling performance with Geraldine Page in the Tennessee Williams' lush drama "Sweet Bird Of Youth."

And then he turned Mexican bandit for "The Outrage" putting up his fast gun for a cue stick in "The Hustler" (we saw a memorable scene between him and George C. Scott, as his double crossing manager) but it was back to a rifle for "Exodus" (a role he personally disliked) and a six shooter in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

HE'S AS ADROIT at humor as he is at being tough, as in "Hud," "Harper" and "Cool Hand Luke" (remember him eating 50 hard boiled eggs, being handed by George Kennedy?). But the one I had forgotten was "Adventures of a Young Man" in which his battered face as a crazy ex-fighter and his changed voice made him almost unrecognizable. "The Silver Chalice" he contends is a classic of "the worst picture ever made" and stood up before a delighted audience and demonstrated how some of the corny lines were delivered.

Frequently diverting questions by acting out scenes, or recalling a funny story about different directors and situations, he is in person as he appears on the screen, cool, relaxed, thoughtful, candid and independent.

"I don't object to answering political questions. I believe meaningful change can take place without revolution but only by dramatizing the corporate and military grip on this nation, not by violence or bombs."

PAUL NEWMAN
Cool, Tough, Charismatic

NEWMAN ISN'T AFRAID to march (he does at home in Hartford) or publicly back a candidate (he was an active worker for McCarthy) and prefers to make American films rather than assume European attitudes and accents.

"For better or worse, I'm stuck inside an American skin. Besides I'm like a great gawking Lake Erie white fish and can't change my colors like Brando, Guinness or Olivier."

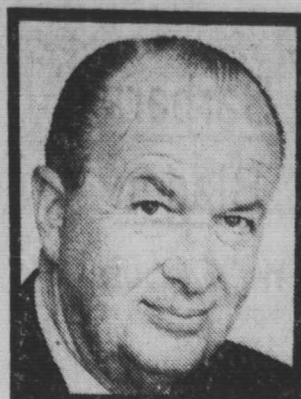

"Acting styles change. I just keep loose and try not to fall back on successful mannerisms. There is more mimicry than acting to find the essence of a character."

"Don't ask me about favorite leading ladies. I'm so knocked out about my own old lady anyway. We work differently. Joanne and I. I'm cerebral first, then turn inward. She starts that way and then asks questions. We only disagreed once when I was directing her in 'Rachel, Rachel' and she was right anyway. We deeply respect each others styles."

"You know, sometimes you can't do it where it's at, because it's not at anywhere. But when a good script comes along, an actor can't take credit for being all that good. 'Butch Cassidy' was always there, so was 'The Hustler.' Your only glory is to lift a bad script off the ground, that is the challenge."

His next film is "W.U.S.A." which he claims to be the best thing he's ever done. It deals with alienation and vulnerability and costars his wife.

"It asks something of American audiences that's usually accorded foreign films: you have to embrace the logic of the playwright. It's a visceral film. I expect there will be a lot of intellectualizing about it."

Intimate Dining At San Mateo Stickney's

Intimacy is the word for the cocktail lounge and dining room at Adrian Stickney's San Mateo restaurant. Adding to the mood is Howard, the pianist's extraordinary who is featured Wednesdays through Fridays. Howard accommodates requests which can be sent via a waiter... Attractive songstress Gail Muribus and her husband, George, are offering up sparkling sessions of entertainment every Monday evening in the cocktail lounge of the Shit Tail in Palo Alto. The handsome couple recently returned from an engagement at the Hilton Hawaiian Village. Latin guitarist Edmundo Rivan entertains for dining on other evenings... Hear ye, hear ye: Martinelli's Steak Pit in Millbrae is now under the management of Lido Landi, who invites you to try their house features of steaks and lobster. Maria tends to the pianobar duties. Plenty of reservation space for wedding receptions, banquets and parties. Ample free parking... Small, medium and large pizzas are available to take out at Romano's Italian restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica... A recent luncheon guest in the popular Fireside Room at the Villa Chartier was Burlingame's Mayor William J. Crosby. The Villa's intimate dining room, only one of 11, is a favorite of city officials, politicians, industrialists and other bigwigs... It's now easier than ever to dine at Lew Lehr's popular steak house in San Francisco's Marina district. With the addition of BankAmericard, Lehr now welcomes all major credit cards.

A. Stickney

NEW ROLE — Lillian Baca, glamorous blonde hostess at the Belmont Prime Rib, is an important gal to know if you're planning a Holiday luncheon or dinner party. One phone call to the former New York singing star takes care of all the details from menu to table arrangements, so you can relax and be a guest at your own party.

Perky Vicki Farrell tinkles the ivories and leads the sing-along at the pianobar in Redwood City's Golden Steer. Assisted by handsome movie star Buddy Baer, Vicki entertains nightly.

Tuesdays through Sundays, from 9 p.m. to 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, are the Happy Hours at the Lost Knight Lounge. In fact, you can enjoy happy hours here no matter when you visit this subsidiary of the Royal Inns of America, located on the Airport Strip in South San Francisco. The Muribus Trio (George and Gail Muribus on piano and vocals, and Larry on bass) bring song and music to the lounge for listening and dancing. Lunches and dinners served daily; fashion show Tuesdays from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. Millbrae's spacious King's Bowl complex also houses the luxurious Blue Peacock restaurant and lounge. Here, you have a choice: if in a hurry, order a quick sandwich at the luncheon counter. For more leisurely dining, sit in one of the comfortable booths in the main dining room... Woodlake Joe's, conveniently located in the Woodlake Shopping Center, lists Italian a la carte-style lunches and dinners as specialties of the house. Open daily through the week from 11:30 a.m., dinner service from 4 p.m. on Sundays... At Pancho's (at Five Points in Redwood City), Manager Ambrosio Maldonado and his staff even prepare the exceptional Mexican food to take out. Almost any item on the menu is available, and a phone call will enable you to enjoy Pancho's native cuisine in your own home.

Lou Ercoli, co-owner of South San Francisco's Leaning Tower restaurant and an avid football fan, now has a tough time catching the 49er home games. With hosting duties on Sunday evenings, Lou would really have to hassle to sit through a complete game, then fight the traffic back to South City from Kezar. However, when the local pros spend their Sunday afternoons at nearby Candlestick Park, you can bet Lou will be in possession of season tickets... "Sun-down Sippin'" at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak House is a pleasant after-work treat. From 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, high balls are 50 cents. Pretty waitresses such as Sherine Hernandez also brings you tasty hot hors d'oeuvres. During evening hours, handsome Bill Micheau, pianist and singer, entertains in the Smart Set cocktail lounge. The restaurant is a favorite for its "Once-price" menu—all steaks $3.95... P. E. Trouve, a Frenchman and representative of European Tourist Service which publishes an international travel guide, was a recent luncheon guest at L'Auberge in Atherton. He and owner-partner Louis Frutshi enjoyed speaking in their native tongue. He approved the delightful artichoke and seafood salad which has become such a favorite at the French bistro.

New 'Crab Goodies' For Exposition Fish Grotto

Award-winning chef Art Davis at the Exposition Fish Grotto isn't waiting for the local, fresh crab season to arrive. Art has already come up with some new and fancy recipes anxiously awaiting the official opening season. Look for that Exposition menu to blossom out with some real crab goodies... The seventh floor is the entertainment hub of the Arlington Plaza Motor Hotel. Here, Les Champs Elysees Restaurant and Lounge, gourmet center of Reno, look through glass walls to the seventh floor outdoor swimming pool and garden area, dotted with tables for dining and cocktails. Four plush conference rooms on the seventh floor are available for business meetings, banquets and private parties. The Plaza garage accommodates 245 vehicles and features complete auto services... Suntory Royal Coffee, made with mellow, imported Suntory Royal Whiskey, is a popular new after-dinner drink among celebrities dining at Phil Lehr's Pay-By-Ounce Steakery in downtown San Francisco.

Art Davis

Singer-guitarist Arel Thomas returned to the Piccadilly Bar at the St. Francis Hotel on Monday. Appearing Mondays through Saturdays from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m., Thomas is looking forward to greeting his many friends... It's not too early to make your Holiday banquet reservations in the spacious Banquet Room at The Shadows of San Mateo. If you're entertaining a large crowd at home, outside catering is also a specialty offered by Dave Rasmussen's crew of food and beverage professionals. Since opening in 1951, The Shadows has become popular as a luncheon spot for businessmen as well as a favorite gathering place for cocktails and evening meals... Great news from Scotty Campbell's: Understand that Theresa Urban and Theresa's sister, Mary Lou Francis, are back on the Redwood City restaurant scene after a long and busy summer of attending to their Wisconsin resort. More details in next Wednesday's Bright Lights... Everyone has a dish they favor — your Bright Lighter included. Be sure to try the Individual Chicken Pie (large chunks of chicken, vegetables, served with flaky pastry crust in rich gravy) at Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken House. This daily special is side-dished with rolls, honey, coffee, and a Wild Blackberry Sundae that "you wouldn't believe"... For those in the know: The menu afforded at A. Sabella's, a Fisherman's Wharf restaurant catering to gusty appetites, names a special dish after almost every member of the Sabella family (and there are numerous).

Plan to stock your shelves with Holiday foods? A step in the right direction is Vince Licata's Delicatessen and Fish Depot, located just north of his popular Italian and Sea Food restaurant. This family-operated combination is one of the Peninsula's most successful... Popular Vic Morrow, star of television's "Combat" series, was recognized by fans at Finocchio's, and stood by the ringside to take a series of bows. After the show, Vic stayed in the lobby for nearly a half hour talking with admirers, and signing autographs. Never can tell when you will run into a show business celebrity at this popular North Beach niter... When Nick Gust says his Papagayo Room is "tops for Mexican food," he means just that. A friendly reception, true Mexican food and atmosphere are basic attractions at this Rockaway Beach showplace. Also located along the shoreline of Pacifica and offering a full panoramic view of the ocean are Nick Gust's nautical Moonraker and Nick's restaurant... Homemade minestrone soup is a house specialty at Yolanda's Terminal Cafe in South San Francisco. Many who dine here confess they could make a meal on the soup alone. But minestrone is only one part of the restaurant's famous family-style dinner, which usually provides guests with more food than they can handle.

Appearing in the Theater Lounge at Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, through November 2, are Martha Mason and The Music People. Appealing to a growing amount of followers with tremendous presentation of music and songs... Speaking of pro-football, Rich Lewis of the Skylark is organizing an expedition to next month's 49er-Ram showdown. One price includes the game ticket, bus transportation, liquid nourishment on the trip up, and dinner after-the-game at the Skylark. For further information and reservations, phone Rich at the restaurant... The Down Beats "dress up" the bandstand at The Mesa in San Bruno on Friday and Saturday nights. On Sunday evenings, club owners Walt Rafter and Tommy Morgan bring in a Country and Western group to live up the dance action... The Ambassadors, a trio with a multitude of musical accomplishments, entertain nightly, Tuesday through Sunday, at the Hillside Inn, San Mateo. Presiding at the organbar is pretty Kathy Dee... DeeJay's is an elegant Belmont niter where live music and dancing is an every-night event. A group currently showcased and new to this area is The Dealers, who have made a big name on the San Jose club circuit... Lovers of exceptional cuisine seek the quiet virtues, the courteous European service found at The Matterhorn restaurant in Burlingame. Perfectionist standards are closely adhered to by chef-owner Wilfried Blarer and his wife, Marion.

MONEY PROBLEMS on last night's Jefferson Elementary School District agenda... with Supt. Frank Greenwood oh-ing about a predicted $554,000 deficit in the 1971-72 school term.

That figure he gives is without anything except normal salary increment increases (salaries make up 85 per cent of the district's budget, he said).

Greenwood pointed to $1,116,000 "in programs we think are terrific." He'd like to save 'em!

WE KNOW A YOUNG fellow who saw his mother's name in print and wasn't half as impressed as other folks: "Too bad it wasn't on the sports page, mom!"

THE MISS PACIFICA pageantry will be extended into a full week of activity, according to director Aubrey Lumley, including a new Miss Pacifica Ball for sponsors and patrons only on April 17.

THE TWO RUSSIAN women who visited Crestmoor High in San Bruno last week were most startled to learn, according to Mrs. Harry Camp Jr., that high school students here do not have mandated military training.

Mrs. Camp, a member of the American Women for International Understanding, a non-governmental agency, explained that Antonina Khripova, the vice president of Pedagogical Sciences Institute, and Zoya Kurancheva, executive director of the Soviet Women's Committee (see picture elsewhere on this page), had asked specifically at what age the military training begins here.

The visiting women "couldn't understand" we have none in high school.

Mrs. Camp believes the visit to the Crestmoor campus, and that of Lowell High in San Francisco, proved to be the highlight to the women's tour of the west coast—their first visit.

HERE'S ONE to stick in your pipe and smoke: A woman called to say she was concerned about posters at a Serramonte store.

She claimed posters showed Walt Disney characters smoking an Indian water pipe, which she thought might tend to promote pot-smoking.

"THAT MAN is a walking redundancy" just has to be the most apt description of the one individual who always plaques the city council, school board, planning commission — almost any public body — with his continual barrage of repeated verbiage. Everybody has one... a walking redundancy, we mean.

ONE OF OUR colleagues wants to know why it is that the press is given "backup" material at governmental meetings relating to only the items that ultimately seldom prove to be real newsworthy "issues."

'70 Ballot Not for the Light-Hearted

By JOHN HORGAN

THERE was no turning back now.

The moment of truth had arrived in the form of that innocent-looking yellow envelope.

I steered myself in anticipation for what I knew must be inside.

Taking a long pull on a dented can of Oly, I nervously slashed open the ominously bulging packet.

Reams of booklets, sheafs of paper and other fearsome items fell to my living room rug.

It was worse—much, much worse—that I had ever imagined.

The sample ballot for the November 3 election just lay there waiting to be attacked by a conscientious, democracy-loving member of the republic. Unfortunately, duty called. I had to tackle my appointed chore. Any good American would have done the same.

Patriotism. The flag. Motherhood. The sample ballot. The sample ballot? I took another swig of the Oly and leaped to my task. Well, let's say I wobbled a bit and then swayed slowly to the floor.

The sample ballot for this coming election is not for the faint-hearted. It is not for the individual who cherishes peace of mind, devotion to the election system and a general faith in the whole process of voting.

This year's sample ballot makes Mao's Little Red Book look comprehensible. It makes Abbie Hoffman sound lucid. There is a grand total of 35 positions to be filled and 20 measures to be decided upon.

There are no less than 63 names involved in all of this.

There is even enough space for the truly informed (or just plain confused) voter to write in names on 29 positions.

On some positions, you vote for more than one person. In one case (the harbor commission of San Mateo County), you can only vote for the incumbents. To make that case even more strange, there is a measure just above it that would dissolve the entire commission. Thus, a misinformed fellow could easily vote to dissolve the commission and then vote to retain all five of the commissioners.

Whoopie. More Oly, please. Included in the package of materials along with the sample ballot is a set of informational booklets intended to clear up the issues involved in those 20 state propositions and proposed laws.

Don't read them. Have a beer instead.

Arguments for and against each measure are given with each one and, on occasion, rebuttals are given to rebuttals.

The mind reels.

There is no way to tell with any kind of precision just what or who is right in these arguments.

Each argument reads like something chiseled out of stone. The logic is impeccable, the language simple but cloudy enough to muddle any rational reader.

In one case regarding Proposition 15, the voter can read all of the arguments on pages 25 to 27 of the first of his manuals and then, what's this, he finds a sheet of paper titled "Rebuttal to Argument Against Proposition 15" nestled there in his folder.

I groped around on the floor with my sample ballot for over an hour.

My wife came into the room later in the afternoon. She found me, with my face broken out, babbling to myself.

"Dear," she cooed, "Can you help me with my sample ballot? I just found it in the mail."

I mumbled something incoherent and bolted for the front door.

I slipped and fell on "Rebuttal to Argument Against Proposition 15" on my way out.

The whole thing is a Commie plot.

A Chilling Glimpse

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

New York politics boggles the partisan mind. No two party system here, but a burgeoning three or four party brawl that every year more closely resembles a true multi-party system.

The New York City election of 1969 found Republican Mayor John Lindsay running as a Liberal (and denied the nomination of his party), and the 1970 Senatorial race has turned into a searing contest in which the Conservatives' candidate is running under the "real republican" imprimatur, and the Republican candidate is looking for Liberal and Democratic support.

This kind of fun and games makes great news. Instead of two gladiators in the arena, and the simple pleasures of bilateral mud-slinging, shink-kicking and character assassination, three or more candidates engage in the autumnal bash and smash. In a year in which politics does not seem to generally excite the public imagination, New York again has real sparks.

Many voters like a wide range of choice. Under the two party system, voters often complain that they have only a choice between two bums. With a multi-party system, the horizons expand and they can complain that three, four or more bums are available. Furthermore, each of the candidates more closely defines his opinions, so that the shopping counter offers less ambivalence and more doctrinaire and militant candidacies. In a three-man race, a candidate can afford to feel much more strongly about whatever he feels strongly about than in a two-man race.

So much for the joys of many candidates and many parties. The detriments should now be considered.

George Wallace (now there's a detriment) presumed to maintain a third party in 1968, and threatens to again enter the arena in 1972. Other States have dallied with a broad party spread, and when a candidate (such as Thomas Dodd of Connecticut) finds his party no longer interested in his wares, he files anyway, as an independent or under some spurious aegis.

Tempted voters fail to understand the frail nature of consensual politics and the importance of our two party system to national stability. An intelligent glance at continental and South American examples should form sufficient warning of the divisiveness and instability of a multi-party system. Coalition government only works some of the time, and as in pre-De Gaulle France, often fails completely.

In addition, there are American technical problems that add to the menace. On the federal level, the constitutional situation is acute. A George Wallace can not only threaten to embarrass the office of the Presidency by making it a subject of congressional bargaining and blackmail, but can create a situation in which it might be impossible to elect a President at all.

Some respond that we will not spawn a true multi-party system without proportional representation. Not so. The danger rests in our growing acceptance of many parties and also in the nature of districts.

Our tradition has been that of single member districts, and this practice has encouraged two, rather than three or more parties or candidates. But there is no constitutional prohibition against multi-member districts, and the Supreme Court went out of its way to countenance multi-member districts in the reapportionment (one man-one vote) cases.

With an increasing number of parties and actual election of third party candidates to State legislatures, reapportionment opportunities could offer a field day for further proliferation. A State legislature inhabited by several factions operating as parties could best protect its various members through creation of multi-member districts. Thus, for example, a single district might be established for five Congressmen, and under such circumstances, an angry minority could much more easily insure retention of one seat. More such districts, and so on and so on.

Under such circumstances factions would become a new and different threat. Instead of spending their furies within the confines of large political parties they would then be able to operate directly upon and inside government itself.

When and if this occurs, the factional voter, insistent that candidates reflect his personal viewpoint, will have done great damage to our nation and its soundness. As the creeping paralysis of factionalism pervades state houses and the national capitol, we would then fully understand the destiny the idealogues had unintentionally planned for us. We would then know we had been taken on a ride on the last bus to hell.

Chief's Corner

'Must I Give My Name'

"If I call the police department to complain about something, do I have to give my name?"

The Department will look into every call that is placed to the Department even if the caller does not wish to give their name. If the caller is a witness to or the victim of a crime, it would be advisable that they identify themselves since without sufficient information an entire investigation may result in the release of the violator without proper prosecution. Names of complaining parties are kept strictly confidential unless it is necessary for them to appear as a witness in a criminal proceeding against a violator. The violator, as guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution, has the right to confront an accuser or witness against him, in any criminal proceedings.

"What type of training is given to our police officers?"

Upon employment a recruit is given four weeks of training within the Department. The recruit is then sent to a Police Academy for a period of 290 hours, this particular training is being expanded in the future and will more than double in training time.

The Police Academy course includes training in subject matters which include: Criminal law, evidence, investigation, police community relations, juvenile procedures and many others.

One of the major advantages in our department attending the Police Academy, which is endorsed by the State of California Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training is that the City of San Bruno receives 50 per cent reimbursement for the attending officer's salary. Officers attend numerous other special schools throughout the year in addition to the departments own in service training. The average number of hours extra training given each officer on an annual basis amounts to more than 35 hours each.

Crime Alert:

A number of incidents of indecent exposure have been oc-curing involving a suspect described as being white, age 28-30, brown curly hair and brown eyes, driving a white with black convertible top M.G. or Triumph sports car. The suspect has been operating in the area east of El Camino Real in the morning hours. He usually approaches several young females who are waiting for the morning school bus and commits the crimes. Anyone having information on this suspect is requested to contact the San Bruno Police Department. Police outrage:

It is not enough that elements within our society continue to murder our brother police officers, but now we are not even allowed to bury our dead in peace. What kind of society is this that we are allowing these types of inhumanities to continue.

The public will suffer in the end. It is time for you to come forth and become involved in your government. Express yourself now before our society reverts to one which is other than a democracy.

'This Is My Best'

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

Let's look at a classic: "This Is My Best," edited by Whit Burnett. Burnett contacted 93 American writers and asked each to select from his own work his favorite piece. The result is a picture of America with its many moods, its various colors, its many aspects. As the editor hoped, his book has become a part of America.

"It is the New England of Robert Frost and Trueman Coffin and Mary Ellen Chase; and the South of Glasgow, Stuart, Rawlings and Faulkner; the Middle West of Tarkington and George Ade; the Far West of Steinbeck's old pioneer, stopped and baffled forever at the Pacific Ocean and the end of the frontier.

It is dinner with the Babbits"—still the best picture of shallow middle class Americans.

"This Is My Best" paints the picture of America as it is seen by a scared Negro washer-woman in Mississippi, or by the people around the stockyards of Chicago. "It is a preface to a Saroyan fantasy, an editor in Kansas writing an editorial on the death of his daughter and projecting a wisp of a girl into a kind of immortality."

"THIS IS MY BEST" presents a big land, where laughter and pain live side by side, where somethings remain beautiful and many things are far from lovely. It is a picture of a world power exerting itself in its greatest task — that of making itself a fitting homeland for all of its people.

Here is Edna Ferber bringing the plight of Joseph and Mary in ancient Bethlehem to Modern America where many doors are closed to the homeless. Here is Wolcott Gibbs proving that the customer is always wrong and Dorothy Parker precluding the hippies with a look at the standard of living.

Here is John Steinbeck wondering if his country has become an old man who can't stop dreaming of the wonderful days of his youth.

Here John Dewey warning his countrymen that "An American democracy can serve the world only as it demonstrates in the conduct of its own life the efficacy of plural, partial, and experimental methods in securing and maintaining an ever-increasing release of the powers of human nature, in service of a freedom which is co-operative and co-operation which is voluntary."

THE AMERICA PAINTED by the authors is a land that needs a big heart; that needs to understand its own people. It is a country that "cannot justify complacency about the conditions."

It is regrettable that someone has not issued a second volume of "This Is My Best" containing the selections of the writers and thinkers who have written since 1942.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Post:

The time has come to provide for safe bicycle travel throughout American cities. Bicycle lanes on city streets would not only allow for safe, cheap, fast, clean enjoyable and healthy travel for short distances but would provide the missing link that could bring commuters back to the use of public transportation. If bicycle rental stalls were available on each city block, the ride to or from the public transportation stop could be made on a rental bicycle. Commuters could check out or return the bicycle at a rental stall by using a "charge-a-plate."

Bicycle lanes could be provided on city streets by marking off a five foot wide lane next to the curb along one side of each street thus placing parking toward the center of the street. One way bicycle lanes in opposite directions on alternate streets would allow bicyclists to reach any address. If only right turns were permitted by bicyclists, they would move freely through the intersections. Bicycle lanes could easily be widened to accommodate heavier traffic as use increased.

At very little cost, our city streets can be modified to give bicyclists the service and safety of travel which they deserve for doing their part in preventing the pollution and congestion which automobiles bring to the city.

CSM Sets Stage for Crucial

Gy JERRY LITRELL
Masochistic to the point of utter coaching frustration, college of San Mateo nevertheless finds itself in the ideal position of being able to take over at least part of first place in the rugged Golden Gate Conference football chase by dusk this Saturday.

That's when the first-place game against Chabot Junior College should be over and with that game rests the gridiron fortunes of a multi-talented but exasperating Bulldog team.

Insistent upon making things as tough as possible, the Bulldogs overcame their biggest obstacle — themselves — and downed visiting City College of San Francisco, 21-7, retaining both the Tom-Tom trophy and a shot at the championship. The loss dropped the Rams to a 2-2 record and possibly out of the title picture.

The defensive alignment of the Bulldogs proved the saving grace in this one. The starting unit played the biggest roll in the two-touchdown victory as it just wasn't a day for CSM's usually potent offense.

Quarterback Wayne Willis was intercepted five times, four by defensive back Vern Thomas who proved to be Willis' favorite target, two fumbles were lost to the Rams and the running attack bogged down with what appeared to be a confused offensive line. But the defense... ah, the defense!

Ed Schweitzer, Bernie Cox, Dan Meschi and Dan Montelongo may not be the mythical four blocks of Granite but they'll do a quarter that saw CSM handle the ball twice — badly. They had their first play broken up by an interception and they took CCSF's first punt a fumble on the runback — gave the ball right back to the Rams.

Phil Andre shot a spark into CSM when he intercepted an Oross pass on the Ram 22. On the first play, Willis faked a handoff, faked an end-around to

Camino Beats Regents, Ram Title Game Next

Like a great sleeping bear, El Camino High School came out of hibernation for one half Friday and then contentedly returned to its lair in preparation for this week's title battle with Westmoor Rams.

The Colts did just enough to get by Serramonte's Regents in a soggy contest dominated by breaks and good Camino defense. Capitalizing on a bad snap on a punt attempt and some strong running by fullback Steve Olney, the Colts whitewashed the Regents, 12-0, in a rather inactive game.

Halfback Al Spitzer took the ball in from the four after a bad snap by Serramonte allowed the Colts to recover the ball on the seven. Rich Clarke nabbed an 11-yard Dale Momili pass in the second period and the scoring was over for the night.

The Colt defense again put on a great performance stopping the Regent running game at just 10 total yards. Quarterback Ron Beltramo was constantly under great pressure and completed just one of 11 tries to give Serramonte just 19 plus yards for the night's work.

The entire second half was played between the Serramonte 40 and the Serramonte goal as weak kicks, penalties and numerous field goal attempts by Camino kept the ball deep in Regent territory.

Serramonte's defense did a creditable job with Rene LaGuardia and Wayne Littlejohn coming through with excellent efforts. But the offense needs work.

Rams 'Steal' The Show

By JERRY LITRELL
Post Correspondent

Which ever scout told the Oceana High School coaching staff that the Sharks could throw against Westmoor's Rams should have his license revoked.

The Rams, currently fighting for the lead in North Peninsula League play, nabbed eight Oceana passes enroute to an easy 21-0 win over the Pacifica entry. In other daytime NPL action, Half Moon Bay and Terra Nova played to a 14-14 tie.

NPL Grid Roundup

while South San Francisco sloshed to a 23-0 win over winless Jefferson in Daly City.

Oceana threw 22 times and completed just three — if you only count the ones that Sharks caught. The Rams secondary was extremely busy with the other eight tosses and holding the Shark passing game to just 33 yards.

Westmoor scored the first two times it had the ball. Halfback Keith Tatum ran 19 yards capping the first drive and Brad Kearns caught a 27-yard Mike Swallow toss for the second td. Fullback Tom Price ran 42 yards in the final quarter for the last Ram score.

Price carried 10 times for 83 yards while Oceana's Dave Williams returned to the starting lineup with a 60-yard, six-carry day.

Methodical is the way to describe the Warrior attack. Content to stay on the ground most of the way, the Warriors ate up 185 ground yards in their Jefferson win. Jeff got to within scoring range only one, late in the fourth period, but a fumble killed that rally on the seven.

So far this year SSF has allowed eight points in five games — and that eight came at once in an 8-7 loss to Capuchino. Shutouts have marked the other Warrior games. Fritz Baumberger, Mike Cholis, Brad Dahl and Mike Senkir were among the defensive standouts yesterday.

On offense it was quarterback Bob Bachold making his first start after an ankle injury has

THERE ARE TWO WORDS in the English language which are tossed around by our communications colleagues like raw liver in a cat fight. One of those words we've already discussed at length in past columns—"great." For a person to achieve greatness, he must, according to any dictionary we've ever read, perform a feat of "remarkable magnitude." But, according to our "telecasters," if a mediocre baseball player hits .280 he's had a "great" season. A fullback gets off a hard-earned 12 yard gain and he's made a "great" run. And so on. You know the routine.

That other word, which seems to have been making the rounds more frequently of late is "genius." Every football coach, nowadays, is a genius. He gets the whole team to run out on the field at the same time, he's a genius. He plays a substitute quarterback who subsequently wins the game, he's a genius (even though his regular QB was hurt and he had no other choice than to play the rookie).

Ironically, the compliment will probably, in the end damage more coaches than further their reputations because few coaches—just like real people—are genuine geniuses and therefore can never hope to live up to what is expected of them once so labeled. The result of course is that mild form of disgrace known as "firing."

We have a feeling that one of future victims of such irresponsible labeling could be our own 49er coach Dick Nolan. Now we do not mean to denigrate Mr. Nolan. We recognize him as a sound capable football theoretician. But genius? ("A person endowed with transcendent mental superiority inventiveness and ability..." Webster's International). We think not; and we think Mr. Nolan would be the first to agree with us out of self-preservation if nothing else.

After all what has Nolan done the past few years but take an erratic occasionally spectacular but essentially losing team (which is always touted as having some of the best raw material in football) and make them into an erratic occasionally spectacular but essentially losing team (this season hopefully excepted). There has not even been a slow but steady improvement as is sometimes accomplished by non-genius steady-plunger types. But what have we been told about Nolan since he first escaped Tom Landry? That he's a "genius." Especially that he's a "defensive genius."

But a genius football coach as we read it is a man who can take a losing team and suddenly and dramatically make it a winning team. Clark Shaughnessy, had to be termed a genius. He took a team (Stanford) which the year before (1939) had had a 1-7-1 record and with almost the identical personnel the next year took it to the Rose Bowl undefeated. Vince Lombardi was a genius. He took a team (Green Bay) which the year before (1959) had had a last place 1-10-1 record and with virtually the identical team the next year grabbed third place with 7-5 the NEXT year was 11-3 and world champs on the way to a dynasty.

Paul Brown is a genius. He built a post-war squad of leftovers into one of the most dominant forces pro football has ever known (the Cleveland Browns) and when he got bored in retirement he took over an expansion team (Cincinnati) and made it respectable in its maiden season as the Bengals won more games (four) in its first year of operation than any expansion club had ever won.

And need we mention the genius of Al Davis? Now back to Nolan's "genius." For the past few years we have been informed that once the players assimilate his complex system of football they will begin winning. It seems to us that if winning football games requires such complexity that it takes years to learn while putting loyal fans through annual torture that it isn't worth winning. If you're going to lose why not have fun doing it with a nice simple game that the players can learn and the fans can enjoy?

Perhaps Nolan's mistake has been in trying to fit the talent to the system rather than vice-versa. It seems to us that the genuine geniuses have generally achieved the latter rather than the former. Shaughnessy arrived in Palo Alto and saw that a team with T-formation talent was playing single wing. He fit the system to the talent. Lombardi arrived at Green Bay and saw that Paul Hornung wasn't a quarterback but a halfback and that obscure Bart Starr was a natural leader and perceived that what was mainly wrong with the Packers was not necessarily a system but that somebody had forgotten that football was still blocking and tackling etc. Brown arrived at Cleveland made a single wing tailback (Otto Graham) into one of the all-time great T-formation quarterbacks and you know the story.

In the meanwhile all any of us can do is accept Nolan for what he is — not a genius but a good football coach fighting valiantly against a curse the likes of which hasn't been encountered by man since the opening of King Tut's tomb.

ONE THING ABOUT FOOTBALL coaches which puzzles us as much as when they're asked what they thought of the game they just won 56-0 and they say they can't comment until they see the films is how they are able to offer such clear-cut answers concerning the state of their offense and defense based on inter-squad scrimmages.

How can they tell whether the offense was good or the defense rotten or vice-versa? We guess we just weren't made to fathom those geniuses.

NOT THAT WE THINK THERE was anything immoral about when the Powers That Be allowed the colleges an option of scheduling an eleventh game this season to defray rising expenditures — but where will it all end? Will a game be added to the schedule every time a university runs into financial problems?

If geometric progression is in force and rising athletic costs continue it will take only about three years before college football is being scheduled in May.

IF WE MAY BE ALLOWED a baseball observation.

Our magnificent hindsight tells us that anybody would have been a fool to bet against Baltimore in the World Series. Take your humble columnist for instance. We picked the Reds in seven games.

Pure simple logic should have told us that Baltimore would overwhelm Cincy. The Orioles were on a long winning streak; had as the sports scribes put it the momentum. Cincinnati on the other hand had played only about .500 ball since the All-Star break and was completely without the services of its two most effective pitchers Wayne Simpson and Jim Merritt and might

Emotional Climax In Falcon Win

By CHRIS STAVE
Post Correspondent

Within five minutes after Crestmoor had beaten Aragon 6-0 on Friday at Burlingame field, these things happened:

499 of the 500 Crestmoor rooters joined the hysterical team in the mudbowl at midfield, very nearly sinking to China;

498 of that group detached themselves to congratulate Falcon coach John Brown, who was being carried off the field by his dancing, helmet-tossing charges;

Brown invited 497 of that group to a victory party hosted by his wife;

Each Crestmoor cheerleader lost her voice entirely, but no one noticed. It was an emotional victory.

For three quarters and much of the fourth, it appeared that no one was going to win anything — except maybe the laundrymen who hold contracts for the two teams.

Both defenses found the goosy going to their liking. First downs were hard to come by. Crestmoor had five all night, Aragon four. Neither team gained over 100 yards.

Crestmoor had gotten as far as the Don, five-year line once early in the fourth quarter, but the drive was stopped by an interception.

Still, Crestmoor was in the hole. Field position meant a lot. Three series of downs later, Aragon punted short to George Ama on the Don '40, and Ama returned to the 28.

Ama carried for eight, then was stopped for no gain. Junior quarterback Jim Jarvis missed with the third down pass. Then, on fourth and two, Jarvis threaded the needle over the middle to Dan Mourgas for a first and goal on the 10.

On the first play Ama squirted up the middle to the two, where he fumbled forward into the end zone — and teammate Bob Scholl was there to pounce on the ball for the score.

Twice Aragon tried to drive for the equalizer, but the Falcon defense pressured Don quarterback Dave Matsi unmercifully, and that was that.

"I just can't say enough for our defense," Brown said. "They did a great job, made the big stops when they had to." "You know we're a young team — only one starting senior. We've made mistakes. But we made fewer mistakes tonight. I'm looking forward to some better games from now on."

Crestmoor and Aragon are now both 1-1 in Mid-Peninsula play.

FRANK ANDERSON

SSF Product CSM Player Of the Week

Veteran end Frank Anderson was College of San Mateo's Bulldog of the Week for his offensive role in CSM's 26-25 victory over Foothill.

Judged "best hitter" in the gray was defensive guard Benny Cox, a sophomore from Ravenswood High and Menlo Park.

Anderson, a 6-2, 220 pound El Camino High grad from South San Francisco, caught four passes for 73 yards and a touch-down in the game.

Of Anderson, CSM coach Bill Dickey noted, "He played a real solid game, blocked well downfield, and helped take the pressure off of Tom Scott. He's showing much more maturity as a football player this year."

Anderson ranks among the Golden Gate Conference's top pass receivers, behind leader Scott, having caught 18 passes for 252 yards and two TDs this season.

CSM's final home game this season will be Saturday at 2 p.m. against defending champion and league leader Chabot—the only league team to defeat the Bulldogs last season.

San Brunan Wins Zone Punt Event

For the second consecutive year Dan Brennan of San Bruno, won the Zone Punt, Pass and Kick championship at Sunset playground in San Francisco.

Competing against all local winners from the Bay Area he posted 286 points in the 13 year old class. This Saturday morning Dan will travel to Redwood City, again, to compete in the Northern California, Nevada and Oregon Finals. Last year Dan placed fourth as a 12 year old in the District Finals in Redwood City.

In the nine year old bracket, San Bruno's Jeff Monteroso finished in third place piling up 174 points.

Other boys competing in the Zone Finals and representing the San Bruno Recreation Department and Turner Ford were: 8 year old Greg Dabney, 10 year old Steve Stoddard, 11 year old Dave Berry and 12 year old Ron Hodge.

DC Playground Schedule

The Daly City Recreation Division has scheduled several flag football games on Saturdays at various playgrounds throughout the City. Because of popularity of this program and because recreation leaders will be traveling with their teams, certain playgrounds will be closed on Saturdays when teams are playing away from home.

The following is a complete schedule as to the days and times certain playgrounds will be closed and without supervision due to the City-wide flag football program:

Saturday, October 31
Robertson School 12-4 p.m.; Skyline School 3-4 p.m.; Colma School 1:30-3:30 p.m.; Jefferson Elem. School 3-4 p.m.; Westmoor Park 1:30-3:30 p.m.; G. Washington School 12-2 p.m. and 3-4 p.m.; Marchbanks Park 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Defeats DC 'Odd Balls' Coast Team

The Pacifica Richfielders edged the Daly City Odd Balls with a final score of 9-6.

This was the second time the teams have faced each other as part of the Women's Softball Leagues sponsored by the Pacifica Beach, Parks, and Recreation Department and the Daly City Recreation Division. Each team captured top honors in their respective league.

Batting power for the Richfielders came from Rita Clark and Eve Henderson each connecting for four hits at five times at bat. Sandy Gheleducis went four for four while Ruth Stege drove in five runs for the Richfielders. Fielding was highlighted by Pam Regan.

The Odd Balls were lead by Pat Safford who hit a triple, a double, and a single in four times at bat. Waverly Ng batted in three runs on a double while Kathy Honrado and Sharon Cassidy each hit doubles. Outstanding fielding was performed by Linda Torrez.

Club America Soccer Winner

In the first game of the Daly City Recreation Division High School Soccer League, Club America, with outstanding team work, beat a game flyer's Club 7 to 0. Carlos Perez, Richard Rangel and Jorge Salgado scored two goals each. Ivan Juliao scored one goal for the victors.

The Rams also scored a victory in their first outing beating the Sharks 5 to 0. Miguel Paz and Sam Escobar scored 2 goals each while George Somarriva kicked the final goal.

Jefferson No. 1 continued winning by beating Detroit A.C. 4 to 1. Four men, Bill Perla, Juan Martinez, Osberto Arriola and Javier Kratochvil scored for Jeff No. 1. Luis Colindres scored and played an excellent game for the losers.

DC JUDO CLASSES FRIDAYS

The Daly City Recreation Division will begin a Friday afternoon Junior Wrestling program on October 30 for all boys in the elementary and junior high school age group. The program will be conducted at the War Memorial Community Center Gymnasium with sessions held every Friday from 3:30 to 5 p.m., throughout the school year.

Former San Francisco State wrestling star, Andy Foley, will lead the instruction and present skills, techniques, and fundamentals of college and amateur wrestling. Preparation for tournament and match competition will also be part of the program.

All boys interested should sign up with the wrestling instructor at the start of the program.

Jeff No. 1 Swamps the Flyers, 13-0

The Flyers could not contain the offensive attack of Jeff No. 1 as they were swamped, 13 to 0, in a Daly City Recreation Division High School Soccer League game.

Osberto Arriola scored 4 goals, Gabriel Guzman hit for 3 scores, Tito Aleman and Nelson Alvarado had 2 apiece while Juan Martinez and Bill Perla scored one goal each. The Flyers were very game even in defeat.

In the second game, the Rams were victorious 6 to 1 over Detroit A.C. Sam Escobar scored two goals for the second week in a row. Peter Ling also had two goals while Miguel Paz and Mario Rosales contributed one goal each. Detroit A.C. goal went to Armando Daudan.

Title Hopes

The Oceana High School cross-country team took a giant step towards the North Peninsula League title October 29 by turning back both Westmoor and Terra Nova in a triangular meet.

The twin victories gave the Sharks a 3-0 MPL mark, while Terra Nova sustained its first loss of the campaign.

Again it was Oceana's Ernie Ribera who led the pack home, winning the event with a 9:25 flat effort over the 1.9-mile Westmoor course.

as well have been without Jim McGlothlin. A lot of the experts said that didn't matter because the Reds had won all year on their hitting and they hadn't lost any of THOSE animals.

True they hadn't lost any hitters, false, that they had lived on their hitting all year. During the first half of the season which is when they really built up that tremendous lead Simpson was pitching like a 30-game winner and never losing.

He won only one game after the All-Star break. Merritt who almost surely would have won 25 (he had 20) was out virtually the entire last month of the season. McGlothlin had 11 wins at the mid-season break. He finished up with just 14 wins.

Why do we always think of these things AFTER we bet?

WE'RE GETTING TIRED OF the critics who won't let Franklin Mielu forget that he gave up a top draft choice (which turned out to be Pete Maravich who is unproven as yet anyway) for the rights to just negotiate for Zelmo Beaty whom he didn't land anyway.

NONE of these guys ever mention that in the same year he got one of the game's genuine super-stars (Jerry Lucas) for two guys who have since been released (Jimmy King, Bill Turner).

Westmoor Frosh C-D Basketball Defeat Oceana Split by Rams

Westmoor's Frosh-Soph Rams were victorious once again as they shut-out the Oceana Sharks, 30-0, on October 22.

Spearheading the Ram offensive attack was Darold Kettner who carried the ball 22 times for a total of 197 yards rushing. Kettner bulled his way into the end zone for two touchdowns; the first on a 25 yard power sweep, and his second came on a four yard burst. The other mainstay in the running attack was the indestructible John Hart, who carried six times for 62 yards, including a touchdown run of 27 yards. Rams scored their third touchdown on a three yard quarterback sneak by quarterback Bob Cini.

Once again the Frosh-Soph defense was airtight, as they gave up very little yardage and for the third straight week held their opponents scoreless.

Westmoor's C's and D's basketball team began the second round of the season by splitting with the Serramonte Regents on Thursday October 22 at Serramonte's gym.

Westmoor's 110's were defeated by a fired up Serramonte club 37-19. The game was close until the fourth quarter, when Serramonte broke the game wide open. Westmoor turned completely cold in the fourth quarter, as they failed to score one point. Andy Evangelista led Serramonte with 12 points. Greg Geogekis led the losers with 7 points.

Westmoor's 120's revenge the 110's loss by beating Serramonte 52-31. Bob Fidler led Westmoor with 16 points. Rory Poblitz rebounded well and scored 11 points. For the Regents Minoth was tops with 12.

Cage Clinic For Boys Set In Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Division will conduct a special program for boys 8-10 years of age interested in learning the basic techniques and skills of basketball.

This will be a six week program starting November 3. Sessions will be held on Tuesday afternoons from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at the War Memorial Community Center Gymnasium. No special equipment is needed and there is no charge to the participant. All boys in the program will be required, however, to wear gym shoes and shorts.

Gymnasium instructor Lloyd Perry, former San Francisco State College basketball and baseball star, will conduct the clinic which will cover various phases of the game such as: passing, dribbling, shooting, rebounding, and defense.

Boys interested in participating in this program must sign up with Perry at 3:30 p.m. November 3 at the War Memorial Community Center Gymnasium, 6655 Mission Street.

Frosh Unit Only Winner in Ram Cross Country

Westmoor's Cross Country team played the NPL two top teams, Oceana and Terra Nova, October 21, at Westmoor High.

Westmoor's only win was in the Frosh competition, when Johnny Wilson took a first and Jim Liston placed second, with Scott Thomas and Jim Vance finishing at fifth and sixth respectively.

Westmoor's Frosh-Soph, Junior Varsity and Varsity did a poor job, as the Varsity trailed Oceana (first) and Terra Nova (second). The Junior Varsity meet saw a reverse in the first two places with the Tigers first and the Sharks second.

The Rams, who had only one entry, did not qualify.

The team also toppled Half Moon Bay and Serramonte earlier in a meet at Half Moon Bay. Westmoor walked away with a first place win in all categories, Frosh, Soph-Frosh, and Varsity. Westmoor did not run in the Junior Varsity race. The Frosh race was the most amazing race that whole afternoon, when runners Jim Liston, Johnny Wilson, Scott Thomas, Jim Vance, and Tommy Jahn, all came in together to take care of the first five places respectively.

Soph runners Jim Katapodis and Bob Durkin took first and second place, and Bob Payne and Rich Mazza placed fourth and sixth, respectively in their competition.

Also helping in the Soph victory were Jim Calloway, Mark Camozzi and Bill Cody. Leading the Varsity to victory were Joaquin Maria, Jeff Krow, Mike Tracy, Mitch Chernock, Pat Sullivan, and Jim Galban.

Serra Turns A Spoiler

By JOHN HORGAN

Leave it to Serra.

The Padres aren't going to win another West Catholic Athletic League football championship this year and many people had written them off for dead as early as two weeks ago when they were beaten so badly by Bellarmine.

So what do they go and do last Saturday? That's right. They went and spoiled the whole season for St. Ignatius, beating the Wildcats, 21-13, in San Mateo before a crowd of 2,500.

SI had to win that one to stay in the running for the title along with unbeaten Bellarmine. Those two schools meet this Friday night—and now most of the jester has been removed from the contest.

The Bells can lose it and still cop the crown because SI has a tie on its league log along with the Serra defeat.

So much for SI.

Serra's season is now a bit brighter (after two straight league losses) even though the Padres must face pass-minded Riordan this Saturday in San Mateo. The Crusaders possess one of Northern California's finest prep quarterbacks in the person of Dan Hayes. They will be a problem. But the pads, now 3-3 and 1-2, seem to be up to it.

"I think we've got a lot more confidence now," Padre Coach Jesse Freitas said after the SI game. "We earned this win. We needed it badly."

As has been the case much of the year, Serra's defense turned the thing around.

After scoring the first time they got their eager hands on the ball (74 yards in 12 plays capped by a 25-yard pass and run play from Jerry Mangini to Jim Biscoe), the Padres then withstood repeated SI advances for the rest of the first half.

In the third period, Serra's Vince Tammara (a sophomore) transfer who was eligible for his first league game Saturday) recovered a Wildcat fumble in the end zone for one score. Two minutes later, Leroy Alexander, another transfer, zipped 84 yards up the middle on a kickoff return for another touchdown.

Offensively, Padre full back Pete Jordan led all rushers, cracking for 91 hard yards.

SI twice came from behind to make life tough on Serra in the wild third quarter.

The 'Cats tied it, 7-7, on a ten-yard bolt by Tim O'Shea and they made it 14-13 on a one-yard plunge by Mike Lawler.

SI was on the Serra nine as the gun went off. A pass by Randy D'Amico in the end zone was batted down by John Flaherty and Steve Soules to preserve the upset.

"We gutted it out," Freitas smiled later.

He was never more correct.

Good Weekend For Padres

It was a good weekend for Serra football.

Not only did the Padre varsity win its game with St. Ignatius, the Serra junior varsity and freshman teams also won.

The Pad JV's, gunning for the West Catholic Athletic League title, shut out SI on Saturday, 14-0, in San Mateo. Vince DiCorte scored both Serra touchdowns.

If you want more jobs for California, you're for Proposition 10!

Proposition 10 will get our economy going again by making more money available for new homes and apartments, shopping centers and office buildings. And that means more jobs!

How will Proposition 10 do this?

By doing away with California's out-of-date interest laws on large business loans (the kind of loans vital to the construction industry)—and opening them up to free competition. New York passed a law like Proposition 10 way back in 1850. That's one reason why California will this year be deprived of $\frac{1}{4}$ of a billion dollars which will go to help New York and 44 other states with more modern laws.

Proposition 10 will change all this without costing you a penny or changing the interest you pay in any way. (In fact, it might even lower it in the long run.)

That's why Proposition 10 was passed unanimously by the State Legislature and signed by Governor Reagan. Former Governor Pat Brown supports it. So do business and labor unions. But their endorsements can't make it law without your YES.

So help them by voting YES November 3. You'll be doing a good job for a lot of good people.

Paid for by Californians for Yes on 10

State Chairman: Art Linkletter
Vice Chairman: Hon. Tom Bradley, Hon. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, Roger Kent, Gordon C. Luce, Mrs. Irene Parsons Mann

Better Be Beautiful Saturday

Scott which momentarily froze the defense and threw to Frank Anderson for the tying touchdown. Things plodded along until after intermission when a Willis-to-Dan Cozart pass covered 57 yards and a first down on the 14. Four plays later Cozart scored two yards around left end for the winning points.

Then Tom Scott, who was covered by everyone in the Ram defensive backfield at one time or another, picked a CCSF punt up on the 24 and ran down the sidelines for the final 76 yards and a spectacular score.

"I have been waiting all year for the defense to unleash this type of fury at an opponent," Bulldog Coach Bill Dickey stated. "That was our game plan — to stop Oross from throwing. We had excellent outside containment and good inside pressure." And when the 'Dogs put it together — offensively and defensively — it could be beautiful. It better be Saturday.

100 Years For Colma Nursery

Pacific Nurseries, of Colma, has joined an exclusive group of California businesses — those that have been in continuous operation in the state for the past one hundred years.

Only one other company in San Mateo County — Guittard Chocolate Co., in Burlingame — is a member of the "One Hundred Year Club," sponsored jointly by the California State Exposition and Fair and the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Louis D. Schenone, of San Carlos, general manager of Pacific Nurseries, accepted the coveted membership recently in Sacramento. The company sales and administrative offices are located on the 12-acre growing site in Colma. The company has another eight-acres of growing area in Mt. View.

Pacific Nurseries has received numerous national beautification awards for the industrial landscaping it has done for such clients as famed Ghia Ardelli Squart in San Francisco. The company supplies trees and plant material to firms throughout the Bay Area.

MRS. JOAN HEMPHILL, immediate past president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, under whose leadership the teachers of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City won one of Northern California's first professional master agreements, holds award received recently from the United Teachers of Los Angeles. Mrs. Hemphill, a first grade teacher, was presented the plaque when she spoke to the Southland group. The award says: "Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association for action that will lead to better schools and professional treatment of teachers in Daly City. In appreciation, United Teachers-Los Angeles."

Fund Drive for Concert

The Terra Nova High School music department in Pacifica is trying to raise funds for a return to the coastal community of renowned concert pianist Ronald Albert Nail.

Nail, who presented an all classical piano concert to raise funds for the Terra Nova music program two years ago, has offered to return again this year.

G. L. Domecq of Terra Nova, the concert producer, has asked Pacifica community leaders for their "support and contribution" on behalf of the school's stage band, which needs at least $900 to participate in the Western Division of Jazz Bands in Reno.

The band hasn't any Jefferson High School District funds for this purpose, and must stage its own money-raising events, Domecq said.

Domecq said that Nail, who received the City of Pacifica's first "key" from Mayor Nick Gust two years ago, "was so pleased and impressed with the support and interest of the people of Pacifica that he stated, 'I hope I can come and play for you again.' He has again offered his talents for our behalf."

The concert is to be held at Crespi Elementary School in Pacifica at 8:15 p.m., November 21.

Councilman's Bacon is Crisp

San Bruno City Councilman George Corey came home to some unusually crisp bacon, a part of his supper, Wednesday.

His wife, Norma, was broiling some bacon in the electric oven in the kitchen of the Corey home at 1910 Glenn Avenue when grease became overheated and caught fire.

Life Uniform Store Opens in Serramonte

A specialty retail uniform shop chain with 43 stores from coast to coast — Life Uniform — opened its Serramonte outlet recently.

Ted Wimberley, general manager of Serramonte Center, worked with Life Uniforms on the leasing arrangements for the 767 square foot store.

With the opening of the new Life Uniform Shop in Serramonte Center, the national uniform shop chain now operates 44 stores in California.

Miss Kathleen Magada is the manager of the Daly City Life Uniforms, which caters to the uniform and accessory needs of nurses, doctors, cosmetologists and other professional and medical men and women.

Mrs. Junice Greenberg is the assistant manager.

Life Uniform Shops, retail division of Angelica Corp., St. Louis, Mo., is the largest chain of retail uniform shops in the country featuring nationally advertised brand names in fashionable uniforms, accessories and duty shoes.

Environmental Group Meets

The San Bruno Environmental Control Study Committee staged its third in a series of hearings focused on the San Bruno Environmental and what that community might do to help preserve it.

The third hearings concerned themselves with dirt haul and bay fill and featured outstanding presentations by the Geological Survey as well as Priscilla Jacobson from "Save San Francisco Bay" and Mrs. Ellie Larsen from the Sierra Club.

The representatives of the Geological Survey gave the Committee a solid background in the geology of the San Bruno area with particular emphasis on earthquake faults and the effect of earthquakes on the various rock formations and soil conditions in the community. It was also pointed out that the survey is currently preparing documented reports which will be helpful to Planning Commissions in the future in planning construction in earthquake areas as well as the effects of building on bay mud and fills.

Mrs. Larsen's address focused on a "dirt haul" in San Bruno which does not use roads or trucks, but with that which uses Crystal Springs stream area and moves some 2,000 yards of dirt annually from the San Francisco Water Project Filtration Plant.

The City of San Francisco, after some pressure from the city, is now removing that silt; however, Mrs. Larsen warned that it will continue to occur on an annual basis until the City of San Francisco takes affirmative steps to plant and otherwise design for water runoff. Of course, each time it occurs, she points out, many trees are potentially destroyed as well as the natural growth in the surrounding areas.

The committee at the same time announced for its October 28th meeting which will be held at City Hall at 8 p.m. The program will feature air pollution and will include on the speakers program Mr. Milton Feldstein, the director of technical services for the Bay Area Pollution Control Board, George Taylor, from the California Air Resources Board, Dave Brown, with the Public Affairs Department of United Airlines; as well as representatives from Bay Area League of Industrial Associations. The program is to focus on the sources and possible municipal controls of air pollution, and it is hoped that representatives from San Francisco Airport will be present.

$1,570 Loss

A loss estimated at $1,570 was reported to San Bruno police in the burglary October 29 of the residence of Sallie Woodburn, 160 Yuba Court.

Police said entry was made by prying open a sliding glass door. The burglary occurred some time between 5 and 8 p.m. The home was ransacked. Items missing include sterling silverware, a radio and $150 cash.

Barber's Car Hits House

A 71-year-old barber lost control of his car in Colma Friday, resulting in a crash which damaged the car and two buildings.

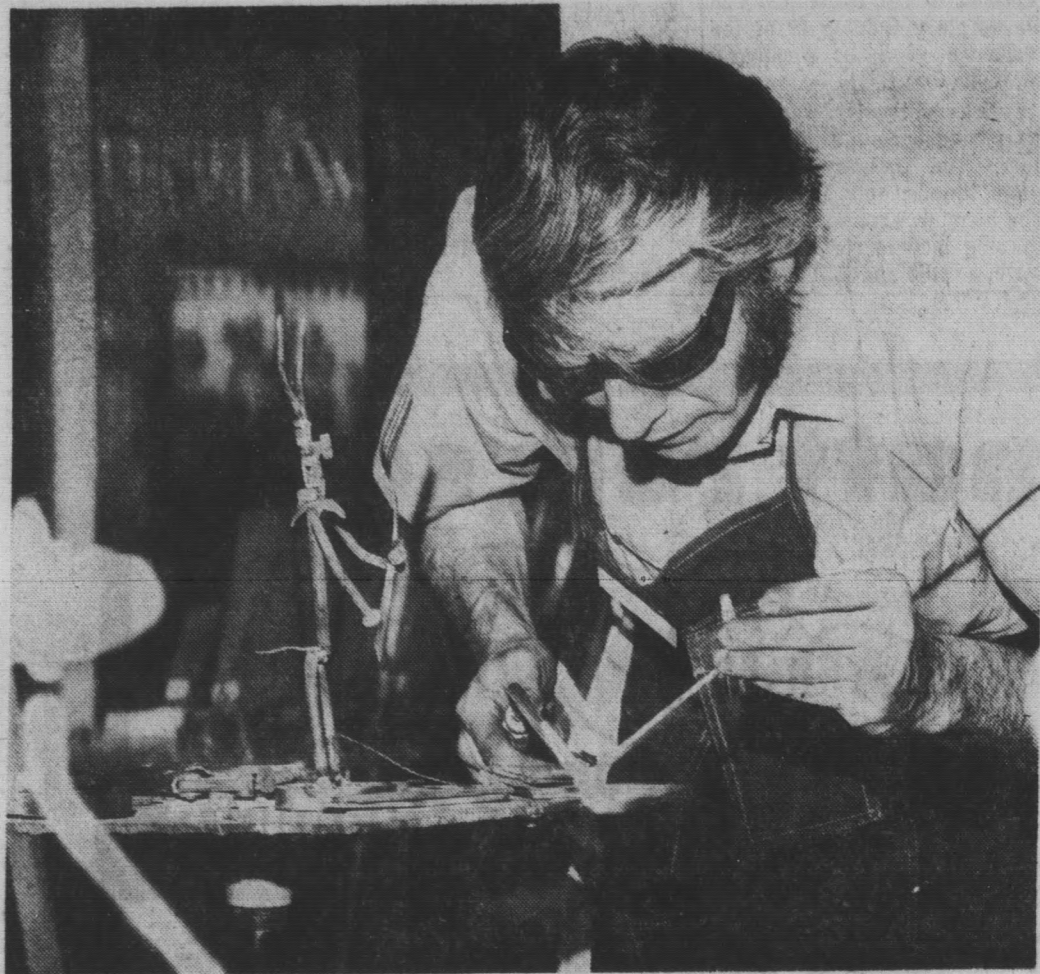

According to Highway Patrolman R. G. Winder, Tony R. Valentine, of Pocastello, Idaho, was turning from Eighty-seventh Street onto Maddux Street when the auto spun out of control.

A witness, Bernice Karger of 704 Eighty-seventh street, said the car ran through a yard, hit a tree, smashed into her house and a brick wall and came to rest into a second building at 707 Maddux Street.

Serramonte Art Festival

Many of the best artists currently working in California will display thousands of paintings, sculpture, pottery and other art objects at the Fall Grand Art Festival, October 28 through November 1 at the Serramonte Center, Daly City.

The enclosed malls will display the show from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday; Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

Most of the artists will be present to explain style, form, color and composition; and many will demonstrate technique at Serramonte's third festival of art. Value of the art pieces and works is estimated at more than $500,000.
